mediatized public culture as a turning point and interrogating it as a symptom of the distinctly modern configuration of individual society and space that emerged during this period this study will interest readers well beyond the discipline of architectural history

The Formation of the Parisian Bourgeoisie, 1690-1830 David Garrioch, 1996 Despite their importance during the French Revolution the Paris middle classes are little known This book focuses on the family organization and the political role of the Paris commercial middle classes using as a case study the Faubourg St Marcel and particularly the parish of St M dard David Garrioch argues that in the late seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries the commercial middle classes were steadfastly local in their family ties and outlook He shows too that they took independent political action in defense of their local position This gradually changed during the eighteenth century and the Revolution greatly accelerated the process of integration at the same time broadening the composition of what may now be termed the Parisian bourgeoisie Central to Garrioch s argument is the idea that family politics and power are intimately connected He shows the centrality of kinship to local politics in the first half of the eighteenth century and the way new family structures were related to changes in the nature of politics even before the Revolution Among the many important issues considered are birth control the role of women the importance of lineage the spatial limits of middle class lives and the language and secularization of politics      The Dutch Republic and the Birth of Modern Advertising Arthur der Weduwen, Andrew Pettegree, 2019-12-16 With the birth of a serial press in the seventeenth century the introduction of paid advertising was the most crucial step in pointing the newspaper industry towards a sustainable future Here as in so much else the laboratory of invention was the seventeenth century Dutch Republic In this study based on an exhaustive examination of the first six thousand advertisements placed in Dutch newspapers between 1620 and 1675 Arthur der Weduwen and Andrew Pettegree chart the growth of advertising from an adjunct to the book industry advertising newly published titles to a broad reflection of a burgeoning consumer society Businesses and private citizens used the newspapers to offer a wide range of goods and services publicise new inventions or appeal for help in recovering lost and stolen goods pets or children In these evocative colourful and sometimes deeply moving notices we see the beginnings of marketing strategies that would characterise the advertising world over the following centuries and into the modern era      Russian Subjects Monika Greenleaf, Stephen Moeller-Sally, 1998 This collection of essays resituates poetic works by Derzhavin Krylov Batisushkov Pushkin Girboedov Lermontov Baratynsky and Pavlova within the force fields of contradictory cultural pressures as are the once best selling prose narratives of Narezhnyi Karamzin Viazemsky and others
