Studies In Arabic Syntax And Semantics:

Studies in Arabic Syntax and Semantics Ariel A. Bloch, 1991 In view of the great upsurge of interest in syntax in recent years it is remarkable that there are so few studies of Arabic syntax and the works of a diachronic orientation are virtually nonexistent The main portion of this book is historical dealing with fundamental mechanisms of syntactic and semantic change Here Bloch has made a substantial contribution to the historical syntax of Arabic Throughout the book the phenomena are viewed from a broad perspective that takes into account evidence not only from all periods and genres of Arabic Ancient Poetic Koranic Classical Middle Modern Literary and Colloquial but also from other Semitic and occasionally non Semitic In the second printing are almost exclusively corrections of misprints and other minor alterations made

Sentence Types and Word-Order Patterns in Written Arabic Yishai Peled, 2008-11-30 Sentence types and word order patterns in Arabic have been a matter of debate and controversy for a long period of time They were hotly discussed by the medieval Arab grammarians and continue to be a major topic of discussion among modern scholars This book describes the development of the medieval grammarians theory of sentence types a development from the theory of amal which lies at the heart of medieval Arabic grammatical tradition Each major topic is discussed with a view to explore the basic principles underlying the medieval grammarians arguments Special attention is given to conceptual problems arising from conflicts with the theory of amal This is followed by an assessment of the contributions made by modern scholars to the analysis and description of the constructions involved Modern Arabists and linguists are shown to have concentrated on word order patterns rather than on sentence types placing special emphasis on the functional aspects of word order variations in Arabic addition to a critical edition annotated translation and a cultural and a grammatical study of The Purim Scroll of the Cairene Jewish Community written in 1524 to commemorate the deliverance of the Jews of Cairo from Ahmad Pasha the governor of Egypt Multiglossia is a linguistic state in which different varieties of a language exist side by side in a language community and are used under different circumstances or with various functions Judeo Arabic has been written and spoken in various forms by Jews throughout the Arabic speaking world For the most part its literature concerns Jewish topics and is written by Jewish authors for Jewish readers Part One places the language of the Judeo Arabic text of the Scroll within the multi glossic history of Judeo Arabic It offers a possible linguistic model that accounts for the mechanisms of Arabic multiglossia and examines its historical development Part Two introduces the two critical editions of the Scroll both in Hebrew and Judeo Arabic with the variant readings followed by an annotated translation Part Three presents a detailed grammar of the Scroll using the framework of Judeo Arabic multiglossia The significance and the contribution of this book lie in its interdisciplinary nature drawing on linguistics philology and cultural history

From Sibawayhi to 'Ahmad Hasan al-Zayyāt: New Angles on the Arabic Linguistic Tradition, 2020-04-02 From S bawayhi to A mad asan al Zayy t New Angles on the Arabic Linguistic Tradition a volume edited by Beata Sheyhatovitch and Almog Kasher brings together nine articles written by leading scholars of the Arabic linguistic tradition These articles trace the development of the tradition from S bawayhi to modern Arabic language academies The authors shed light on lesser known aspects of this tradition such as little investigated grammatical structures and problematic spots of the amal theory and the grammatical terminology They explore the discipline s relations with stylistics and logic the Arab grammarians influence on Jewish Bible exegesis and modern applications of medieval Arabic grammatical theory This volume showcases the richness of the medieval Arabic linguistic literature and the diversity of ideas found within it

Mixed Styles in Spoken Arabic in Egypt Gunvor Mejdell, 2017-07-03 This volume deals with the linguistic behaviour of Egyptian academics in a specific setting the panel presentation assumed to represent a discourse genre to which speakers will respond with some kind of similar stylistic norm reflected in linguistic choices among variants of a feature The features selected for investigation are complementizers demonstratives negation relatives and pronoun suffixation all of which have binary variants in the two basic codes available to the speaker the standard variety and the vernacular The use of the variants is discussed for each speaker and across speakers demonstrating certain patterns of distribution order but also a high degree of variable usage chaos The investigation is set in a wider comparative sociolinguistic framework

Modern Arabic Clive Holes, 2004 The revised and updated edition of Modern Arabic takes this authoritative concise linguistic description of the structure and use of modern

Arabic to an invaluable new level Clive Holes traces the development of the Arabic language from Classical Arabic the written language used in the 7th century for the Qur'an and poetry through the increasingly symbiotic use of Modern Standard Arabic or MSA the language of writing and formal speech and dialectal Arabic the language of normal conversation He shows how Arabic has been shaped over the centuries by migration urbanization and education giving us a balanced dispassionate and accurate picture of the structures functions and varieties of the contemporary Arabic language Holes explains the structural characteristics phonology morphology syntax semantics and lexical and stylistic developments that the majority of the dialects share as distinguished from Modern Standard Arabic He also shows how native speakers use both types of Arabic for different purposes with MSA being the language of power and control as used on television and in political speeches and the dialects serving as the language of intimacy and domesticity He further shows how MSA and spoken dialects are not as compartmentalized as one might be led to believe Modern Arabic illustrates the use of the Arabic language in real life whether in conversation news bulletins and newspaper articles serious literature or song This new edition takes into account research published in several areas of Arabic linguistics since the first edition was published in 1995 It includes more extensive comment on the North African Arabic vocabulary of Modern Standard Arabic more information about mixed varieties of written Arabic that are not in MSA especially in Egypt updated references explanations and many new examples All Arabic is transcribed except for an appendix presenting the Arabic alphabet and script Students of the Arabic language will find Modern Arabic without peer as will those general linguists who are interested in discovering how Arabic compares structurally and sociolinguistically with European languages

Word Order in the Biblical Hebrew

Finite Clause Adina Moshavi, 2010-06-30 Over the last 40 years the study of word order variation has become a prominent and fruitful field of research Researchers of linguistic typology have found that every language permits a variety of word order constructions with subject verb and objects occupying varying positions relative to each other It is frequently possible to classify one of the word orders as the basic or unmarked order and the others as marked Moshavi's study investigates word order in the finite nonsubordinate clause in classical Biblical Hebrew A common marked construction in this type of clause is the preposing construction in which a subject object or adverbial is placed before the verb In this work Moshavi formally distinguishes preposing from other marked and unmarked constructions and explores the distribution of these constructions in Biblical Hebrew She carries out a contextual analysis of a sample of the book of Genesis of preposed clauses in order to determine the pragmatic functions that preposing may express Moshavi's thesis is that the majority of preposed clauses can be classified as one of two syntactic pragmatic constructions focusing or topicalization This meticulous yet approachable study will be useful both to students of Biblical Hebrew and to persons doing general study of syntax especially those interested in the connection between linguistic form and pragmatic meaning

The Oxford Handbook of Arabic Linguistics Jonathan Owens, 2013-10-03 Until about 60 years ago linguistic research on the Arabic language in the West was restricted to inquiries on Classical Arabic and the Classical tradition and spoken Arabic dialects with historical studies embedded within the broader field of Semitic languages This situation is changing quickly not only through the continuation of older research traditions but also with the integration of new research fields and perspectives With this expansion comes the danger of specialists in Arabic losing an overview of the field and of leaving non specialists without basic resources for evaluating domains of research which they may be interested in for comparative purposes The Oxford Handbook of Arabic Linguistics will confront this problem by combining state of the art overviews with essays on issues of perspective controversy and point of view In twenty four chapters leading experts from around the world will lay out their own stances on controversial issues The book not only evaluates ways in which questions and theories established in general linguistics and its sub fields elucidate Arabic but also challenges approaches which might result in accommodating Arabic to non Arabic interpretations and brings out the Arabic specificity of individual problems The Handbook in one compact volume gives critical expression to a language which covers large populations and geographical areas has a long written tradition and has been the locus of major intellectual fervor and debate A History of African Linguistics H. Ekkehard Wolff, 2019-06-13 The first global history of African linguistics as an emerging autonomous academic discipline covering Africa the Americas Asia Australia and Europe Romance Syntax, Semantics and L2 Acquisition Joaquim Camps, Caroline R. Wiltshire, 2001-01-01 This volume contains a selection of refereed and revised papers originally presented at the 30th Linguistic Symposium on Romance Languages representing the areas of syntax semantics their interfaces and second language acquisition The topics addressed include movement both wh and head movement control issues of second language acquisition related to the Determiner Phrase the effect of word order and syntactic simplification in second language acquisition adverbials syntactic constraints on access to lexical structure a semantic characterization of the subjunctive in Spanish and impersonal constructions and impersonal reflexive pronouns The papers in this volume not only discuss issues related to most of the major Romance languages French Italian Portuguese Rumanian and Spanish and a Portuguese Creole but also include comparisons with languages from other families Marathi Bulgarian Polish and Slovenian This collection of papers illustrates the richness in the field of Romance linguistics and the value of cross linguistic research and multi modular approaches

Arabic Dislocation Ali A. Alzayid, 2022-03-15 Since the early years of generative grammar Chomsky 1977 inter alia the phenomenology of dislocation has proved to be a fertile area of research This however has not been the case for Modern Standard Arabic MSA and hence this thorough monograph intends to fill this lacuna Three aspects of this linguistic phenomenon stand out the taxonomy of possible dislocated configurations syntax and interpretation Though the structure in itself has been extensively studied in various languages including varieties of spoken Arabic this monograph shows that MSA presents properties that set it apart from known varieties and cannot be captured by an extension or modification of existing analyses Moreover existing analyses are not fully satisfactory as there are open analytical questions regarding the interpretation and syntactic analysis of dislocation structures crosslinguistically Particularly the optimal path to follow concerning dislocation structures in MSA is to argue for the claim that contrast as an information structural notion underlies the interpretation of dislocated elements and these elements are best syntactically analyzed as being involved in a bisentential configuration contra monoclausal approaches to dislocation This monograph should be relevant to anyone with an interest in the Arabic language and also to syntacticians and typologists with an interest in sentence structure
