Suggestion Of Death A Novel:

The Death-Bound-Subject Abdul R. JanMohamed, 2005-04-21 A literary exploration of the prevalence of death its connection to political oppression and its use as salvation in Richard Wright's work Death-Facing Ecology in Contemporary British and North American Environmental Crisis Fiction Louise Squire, 2019-12-05 Recent years have seen a burgeoning of novels that respond to the environmental issues we currently face Among these Louise Squire defines environmental crisis fiction as concerned with a range of environmental issues and with the human subject as a catalyst for these issues She argues that this fiction is characterized by a thematic use of death through which it explores a crisis of both environment and self Squire refers to this emergent thematic device as death facing ecology This device enables this fiction to engage with a range of theoretical ideas and with popular notions of death and the human condition as cultural phenomena of the modern West In doing so this fiction invites its readers to consider how humanity might begin to respond to the crisis

Narrative Fiction and Death Sabine Köllmann, 2023-09-29 Narrative Fiction and Death Dying Imagined offers a new perspective on the study of death in literature It focuses on narrative fiction that conveys the experience of dying from the internal perspective of a dying protagonist Writers from Victor Hugo in the early 1800s to Elif Shafak in the present day have imagined the unknowable final moments on the threshold to death This literary study examines the wide range of narrative strategies used to evoke the transition from life to death and to what effect revealing not only each writer's unique way of representing the dying experience the comparative reading also finds common concerns in these texts and uncovers surprising parallels and unexplored intertextual relations between works across time and space that will interest comparatists as well as specialists in the literatures discussed Students of individual texts examined here will benefit from detailed analyses of these works The fictional evocation of dying addresses our basic human fears offering catharsis consolation and a greater cognitive and emotional understanding of that unknowable experience Presented in an engaging and highly readable manner this study argues for literature's potential to challenge our assumptions about the end of life and change our approach to dying an aspect that will interest students and researchers of the health humanities palliative caregivers and all those interested in questions of the end of life

The Wages Of Sin: Book Four. The Birth Of Death L.E. Parker,2018-06-04 When an unstable power is unleashed upon the world the Earth is left to tremble under the weight of deception as the pieces move across the board towards an inevitable and destructive war with only the hands of evil to play with them Deceit is unmasked mistrust begins to fester and curiosity that rises in so few risks being torn away as everything is left without the protection of the light As lies begin to be untold the passage of death is born to the Earth in silent horror as the fingers of the Devil reach into each and every soul of humankind with no sign of peace to lead them to safety It matters only to one being that there is salvation and yet with his will broken beyond repair the Earth faces the birth of never ending darkness entirely alone with only dust to suffocate their fragile hope for deliverance

Beyond the Good Death James W. Green,2012-03-15 In November 1998 millions of television viewers watched as Thomas Youk died Suffering from the late stages of Lou Gehrig's disease Youk had called upon infamous Michigan pathologist Dr Jack Kevorkian to help end his life on his own terms After delivering the videotape to 60 Minutes Kevorkian was arrested and convicted of manslaughter despite the fact that Youk's family firmly believed that the ending of his life qualified as a good death Death is political as the controversies surrounding Jack Kevorkian and more recently Terri Schiavo have shown While death is a natural event modern end of life experiences are shaped by new medical demographic and cultural trends People who are dying are kept alive sometimes against their will or the will of their family with powerful medications machines and heroic measures Current research on end of life issues is substantial involving many fields Beyond the Good Death takes an anthropological approach examining the changes in our concept of death over the last several decades As author James W Green determines the attitudes of today's baby boomers differ greatly from those of their parents and grandparents who spoke politely and in hushed voices of those who had passed away Dr Elisabeth Kbler Ross in the 1960s gave the public a new language for speaking openly about death with her five steps of dying If we talked more about death she emphasized it would become less fearful for everyone The term good death reentered the public consciousness as narratives of AIDS cancer and other chronic diseases were featured on talk shows and in popular books such as the best selling Tuesdays with Morrie Green looks at a number of contemporary secular American death practices that are still informed by an ancient religious ethos Most important Beyond the Good Death provides an interpretation of the ways in which Americans react when death is at hand for themselves or for those they care about

Fiedler,1997 No other study of the American novel has such fascinating and on the whole right things to say Washington Post Death Representations in Literature Adriana Teodorescu,2015-01-12 If the academic field of death studies is a prosperous one there still seems to be a level of mistrust concerning the capacity of literature to provide socially relevant information about death and to help improve the anthropological understanding of how culture is shaped by the human condition of mortality Furthermore the relationship between literature and death tends to be trivialized in the sense that death representations are interpreted in an over aestheticized manner As such this approach has a propensity to consider death in literature to be significant only for literary studies and gives rise to certain persistent clichés such as the power of literature to annihilate death This volume overcomes such stereotypes and reveals the great potential of literary studies to provide fresh and accurate ways of interrogating death as a steady and unavoidable human reality and as an ever continuing socio cultural construction The volume brings together researchers from various countries the USA the UK France Poland New Zealand Canada India Germany Greece and Romania with different academic backgrounds in fields as diverse as literature art history social studies criminology musicology and cultural studies and provides answers to questions such as What are the features of death representations in certain literary genres Is it possible to speak of an homogeneous vision of death in the case of some literary movements How do writers perceive imagine and describe their death through their personal diaries or how do they metabolize the death of the significant others through their writings To what extent does the literary representation of death refer to the extra fictional socio historically constructed Death Is it moral to represent death in children s literature What are the differences and similarities between representing death in literature and death representations in other connected fields Are metaphors and literary representations of death forms of death denial or on the contrary a more insightful way of capturing the meaning of death Image and Symbol in Joseph Conrad's Novels F.
