Study of the Gonadosomatic Index of an ornamental fish, Brachydanio rerio (Ham)

Sushil Kr. Sarmah and Sharmistha Paul

Abstract

The present study was undertaken to trace precisely the spawning period of an important ornamental fish species, Brachydanio rerio. Gonadosomatic index (GSI) expresses the relative change in gonad weight to the percentage of body weight. In the present study two peaks are observed in the GSI of Brachydanio rerio, first peak is observed in the month of June and the second in the month of October.

Keywords: Gonadosomatic index, ornamental fish, Brachydanio rerio

1. Introduction

In India, especially Northeastern region, a number of fish species exists in natural water bodies, which have a good ornamental value due to their beautiful colour, shape, manageable size, hardness, compatibility and longevity. Survey in the wholesale market at Hatibagan in Kolkata and information from exporters revealed that a large group of indigenous fish has increased demand in overseas market like Japan and the Middle East. Although its price at the collecting site is nominal, the ultimate price is quite high so, there is a scope of developing the trade with varieties of indigenous fish species^[1]. Culture and breeding of indigenous fresh water ornamental fish species (OFS) of North Eastern Region (NER) are very little known due to lack of awareness and interest among the fish farmers. Among the 196 OFS of NER, the exporter of Kolkata and Chennai through some local suppliers exports nearly 27 OFS from NER^[1]. These OFS are all traded on wild caught and none venture for their culture and breeding. Therefore, the population of these valuable ichthyo-species are gradually declining due to over exploitations from their natural stock. The commercial organized export of freshwater OFS of NER depends primarily on assured and adequate supply as and when demand arises which is possible only through the mass breeding technique. The scientific management for obtaining high yields of fish production eventually calls the adequate and in-depth study of breeding mechanism. In order to complete the task, the present study was undertaken to trace accurately the spawning period of B. rerio. This is reported in terms of gonadosomatic index which express the relative change in gonad weight to the percentage of body weight.

2. Methodology

Material for the study was obtained from Deepor Beel and wetlands of Guwahati University Campus. Matured fishes were weighed along with the weight of gonads monthly. Later percentage of gonad weight in relation to the total body weight was calculated by using the following formula

$$GSI = \frac{\text{Total ovary weight}}{\text{Total weight of the body}} \times 100$$

Gonado-somatic index (GSI) is considered as an indicator of spawning frequency. And the index is also used to study the maturity of ovaries. The Gonado-somatic index (GSI) is studied for individual matured female fish after LeCren (1951),^[2] Marichamy (1984)^[3] and Wootton (1973, 1982)^[4, 5]. Gonadosomatic index of fish increases with maturation being maximum during peak periods of maturity and abruptly declines after spawning.

law has developed significantly since the 1990s through the adoption and establishment of international instruments and bodies at the global and regional levels. Global fish stocks nevertheless remain in a troubling state and fisheries management authorities face a wide array of internal and external challenges including operational constraints providing effective management advice in the face of scientific uncertainty and non compliance by States with their international obligations. This book examines these challenges and identifies options and pathways to strengthen international fisheries law. While it has a primarily legal focus it also features significant contributions from specialists drawn from other disciplines notably fisheries science economics policy and international relations in order to provide a fuller context to the legal policy and management issues raised. Rigorous and comprehensive in scope this will be essential reading for lawyers and non lawyers interested in international fisheries regulation in the context of profoundly changing ocean conditions.

International Symposium on Fisheries Sustainability: Strengthening the science-policy nexus Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-10-31. The objective of this Symposium is to identify pathways to strengthen the science and policy interplay in fisheries production management and trade based on solid sustainability principles for improved global outcomes on the ground. Ultimately the debates and conclusions of the symposium will prepare the way for the development of a new vision for the way we perceive and use capture fisheries outlining how the sector can respond to the complex and rapidly changing challenges facing society and support the planning process of the UN Decade of Ocean Science for Sustainable Development 2021-2030.

The Contribution of International Fisheries Law to Human Development Nienke Van Der Brugt, 2012-11-01. The Contribution of International Fisheries Law to Human Development: An Analysis of Multilateral and ACP/EU Fisheries Instruments examines whether and how legal fisheries instruments encompass a normative consensus on human development. Focusing on both multilateral treaties and soft law as well as the ACP/EU bilateral fisheries instruments Nienke van der Brugt provides a detailed analysis as to whether these different types of legal instruments reflect the principles of equity poverty eradication and participation which have been identified as key indicators of human development. Moreover specific attention is paid to whether explicit reference is made to the small scale fisheries sector and to the role of women. Concluding that despite increasing evidence of the potential and significant contribution of fisheries towards human development legal fisheries instruments seem to be struggling with the incorporation of a human development centred approach. The Contribution of International Fisheries Law to Human Development is essential reading for all those involved in the fields of international environmental law and sustainable human development.
