Sinha,Samuel Labi,2011-09-09 This pioneering text provides a holistic approach to decisionmaking in transportation project development and programming whichcan help transportation professionals to optimize their investmentchoices The authors present a proven set of methodologies forevaluating transportation projects that ensures that all costs and impacts are taken into consideration. The text's logical organization gets readers started with a solid foundation in basic principles and then progressively builds on that foundation. Topics covered include Developing performance measures for evaluation, estimating travel demand and costing transportation projects, Performing an economic efficiency evaluation that accounts for such factors as travel time, safety, and vehicle operating costs, Evaluating a project's impact on economic development and land use as well as its impact on society and culture, Assessing a project's environmental impact including air quality, noise, ecology, water resources, and aesthetics, Evaluating alternative projects on the basis of multiple performance criteria, Programming transportation investments so that resources can be optimally allocated to meet facility specific and system wide goals. Each chapter begins with basic definitions and concepts followed by a methodology for impact assessment. Relevant legislation is discussed and available software for performing evaluations is presented. At the end of each chapter, readers are provided resources for detailed investigation of particular topics. These include Internet sites and publications of international and domestic agencies and research institutions. The authors also provide a companion Web site that offers updates, data for analysis, and case histories of project evaluation and decision making. Given that billions of dollars are spent each year on transportation systems in the United States alone and that there is a need for thorough and rational evaluation and decision making for cost effective system preservation and improvement, this text should be on the desks of all transportation planners, engineers, and educators. With exercises in every chapter, this text is an ideal coursebook for the subject of transportation systems analysis and evaluation.

The Finance of Higher Education Michael B. Paulsen, John C. Smart, 2001. IJER Vol 7-N1 International Journal of Educational Reform, 1998-01-01. The mission of the International Journal of Educational Reform (IJER) is to keep readers up to date with worldwide developments in education reform by providing scholarly information and practical analysis from recognized international authorities. As the only peer reviewed scholarly publication that combines authors' voices without regard for the political affiliations, perspectives, or research methodologies, IJER provides readers with a balanced view of all sides of the political and educational mainstream. To this end, IJER includes but is not limited to inquiry based and opinion pieces on developments in such areas as policy, administration, curriculum, instruction, law, and research. IJER should thus be of interest to professional educators with decision making roles and policymakers at all levels, since it provides a broad based conversation between and among policymakers, practitioners, and academicians about reform goals, objectives, and methods for success throughout the world. Readers can call on IJER to learn from an international group of reform implementers by discovering what they can do that has actually worked. IJER can also help readers to understand the pitfalls of current reforms in order to avoid making similar mistakes. Finally, it is the mission of IJER to help readers to learn
