Psychology, Development and Social Policy in India R. C. Tripathi, Yoganand Sinha, 2013-08-05 This book examines how and where psychology can engage itself in the framing of social policies for national as well as human development in India Although the role that psychological knowledge can play in informing social policy decisions has been discussed for a long time psychologists by and large have had little role in framing policy decisions related to such important domains as education health social justice and social inclusion Policy makers not only in India but more or less everywhere have focused on interventions at the macro level which has led them to ignore the root causes of the problems lying at the micro level However with the more humanistic approaches now being followed by economists and other social scientists the person in society is slowly taking centre stage Micro level variables like happiness the wellbeing of individuals and the social relationships within which people define themselves are becoming important Therefore this book discusses important psychological issues related to human development particularly health and education social justice social integration environment and work organizations besides focusing on some general issues relating to the logic of making social policies It is a first ever attempt in India to inform policy makers about how micro variables can be a crucial factor to consider while framing social policies

Critical Social Issues in American Education H. Svi Shapiro, David E. Purpel, 2004-09-22 This text reader brings together powerful readings that critically situate issues of education in the context of the major cultural moral political economic ecological and spiritual crises that confront us as a nation and a global community It provides a focus and a conceptual framework for thinking about education in light of these issues Readers are exposed to the thinking of some of the best and most insightful social and educational commentators Critical Social Issues in American Education Democracy and Meaning in a Globalizing World Third Edition is intended to work on two levels First it helps readers to develop an awareness of how education is connected to the wider social structures of cultural political and economic life Second it encourages not only a critical examination of our present social reality but also a serious discussion of alternatives of what a transformed society and educational process might look like The editors goal is to deliberately engage readers in connecting the work of teachers to an ethically committed politically charged pedagogy The assumption on which they base the text is that educators must see their work as inextricably linked to the broader conflicts stresses and crises of the social world it is not otherwise possible to make sense of what is happening educationally What happens in school or as part of the educational experience reflects expresses and mediates profound questions about the direction and nature of the society we inhabit The text is organized thematically into five sections which address respectively social justice and democracy consumerism culture and public education marginality and difference moral and spiritual perspectives on education and globalization and education Each section is preceded by a brief essay that introduces the readings This Third Edition includes many new readings and addresses issues that have more recently emerged as especially significant such as concerns about the implications of globalization and the post 9 11 world commercialism violence and the ever increasing influence of high stakes testing This compelling text is relevant for a wide range of courses in educational foundations educational policy curriculum studies and multicultural education that address the social context of education cultural and political change and public policy

Education, Social Structure and Development Bill Williamson, 1979-05-31 Higher Education in Austerity Europe Jon Nixon, 2017-09-21 The financial crisis of 2007 2008 prompted governments across Europe to adopt austerity measures aimed at the reduction of their escalating budget deficits Higher Education in Austerity Europe explores how the resulting cuts in public expenditure together with the increasing reliance on the privatisation of services have impacted on higher education directly through the reduction of public sector provision and indirectly as a result of the social and political consequences of that reduction Moreover it explores how the effects of these economic policies have differed markedly across the national regions of Europe with the result that inequality has increased significantly both within and between national regions and this in turn has led to social and political dislocation within and across communities It is only by viewing higher education within this broader context that we can begin to understand the full implications of the austerity measures introduced over the last ten years Jon Nixon draws together leading scholars to delve into the complexity of impact and response generated by these measures Part 1 focuses on cross European perspectives Part 2 on the impact of austerity measures within national systems and Part 3 on new perspectives and possibilities The volume also includes considered responses from outsiders by academics located in Asia Australia and the USA providing an additional dimension to the analysis As well as analysing the full impact of austerity measures across some of the worst hit national regions of Europe the contributors also identifying openings and possibilities for renewal

APAIS 1994: Australian public affairs information service , Social Welfare Responses in a Neoliberal Era , 2018-11-26 Listen to the podcast about Cory Blad s chapter in this book Searching for Saviors Economic Adversities and the Challenge of Political Legitimacy in the Neoliberal Era This book seeks to explore welfare responses by questioning and going beyond the assumptions found in Esping Andersen's 1990 broad typologies of welfare capitalism Specifically the project seeks to reflect how the state engages and creates general institutionalized responses to market mechanisms and how such responses have created path dependencies in how states approach problems of inequality Moreover if the neoliberal era is defined as the dissemination and extension of market values to all forms of state institutions and social action the need arises to critically investigate not only the embeddedness of such values and modes of thought in different contexts and institutional forms but responses and modes of resistance arising from practice that might point to new forms of resilience Social Crisis and Educational Research (RLE Edu L) Len Barton, Stephen Walker, 2012-04-27 Originally written at a time of crisis in the education system of Britain occasioned by cuts contradictions and change many of the issues discussed in this book are still relevant today Debate in the book focuses upon an examination of the nature of the crisis an exploration of the impact of the crisis upon school processes and upon the relationship between life in school and in the wider community an investigation of the responses being made by pupils teachers and educationalists to the day to day manifestations of the crisis and a consideration of how the current crisis is giving a particular poignancy to issues to do with the theories and methods employed in our study and interpretation of contemporary educational processes Fabricating Europe António Nóvoa, Martin Lawn, 2002-08-31 Fabricating Europe has within it a core idea a crucial but imprecise idea that of a European educational space which transnational governance networks and cultural and economic projects are creating now Yet the perceptible creation of this contemporary space of European policy making and networking has not been a subject of study It appears offstage in studies of national systems in which national and professional identity political organization policy formation and public private markets are all viewed as contained within the borders of the state Fabricating Europe is concerned with the new possibilities to be discerned and imagined in the European public and institutional spaces and discourses in education and the lack of impetus within the broad area of educational studies to meet the task of creating analyses and responses
