Sundanese Print Culture And Modernity In 19th Century West Java:

Sundanese Print Culture and Modernity in Nineteenth-century West Java Mikihiro Moriyama, 2005 Sundanese books have been printed since 1850 up to the present This article tries to draw a configuration of printing books in Sundanese for about 100 years in the Dutch colonial and Japanese occupation period Printing and publishing books in Sundanese was initiated by the Dutch colonial government for the sake of management of their colony This article discusses three aspects in print culture in Sundanese 1 the role of government printing house and private publishers 2 the cultural relationship between manuscript and printed books and 3 the changes after the emergence of printed books Print culture in the Sundanese speaking community was born and has developed Its facets have changed from time to time We notice more than 2200 Sundanese books were published up to the second decade of the 21st century when the technological innovation has proceeded in an enormous pace However the importance of Sundanese publication has not diminished in terms of nurturing educated citizens in this digital oriented society and supporting cultural identity Sundanese Print Culture and Modernity in 19th Century West Java Mikihiro Moriyama, 2019-02-15 Sundanese Print Culture and Modernity in 19th Century West Java traces the development of modern printed books written in Sundanese the dominant language in West Java Indonesia and the mother tongue of about 30 million people Starting with the discovery of Sundanese by Europeans in the early 19th century Mikihiro Moriyama follows the developments in the ensuing century when a small group of Dutch scholars and colonial officials reshaped the language and its literature over the next one hundred years Schools taught Sundanese and printed materials based on western concepts began to influence indigenous writing and oral tradition The imposition of European standards of literary aesthetics shaped a modernity that rejected traditional knowledge in favour of rational and empirical paradigms Interest in traditional poetry and its mythologies declined and new forms of prose including novels captured the attention of the reading public These materials promoted useful knowledge and morality and encouraged deference and loyalty towards colonial authority Early in the 20th century the establishment of the Commissie voor de Inlandsche School en Volkslectuur Committee for Indigenous Schoolbooks and Popular Reading Books a government subsidised institution provided the growing number of literate people in the Indies with good and appropriate reading materials Its development marked the end of an era when Sundanese writing competed with Western style schools and publications and signalled the triumph of the new colonial modernity Traditions Redirecting Contemporary Indonesian Cultural Productions Jan van der Putten, Edwin P. Wieringa, 2017-08-21 This volume is the result of a conference held in October 2015 in connection with the Frankfurt Book Fair discussing developments that are considered important in contemporary Indonesian cultural productions The first part of the book reflects on the traumatic experiences of the Indonesian nation caused by a failed coup on October 1 1965 In more general theoretical terms this topic connects to the field of memory studies which in recent decades has made an academic comeback The focus of the chapters in this section is how certain often distressing events are represented in narratives in a variety of media that are periodically renewed changed rehearsed repeated and performed in order to become or stay part of the collective memory of a certain group of people The second part of the book explores how forces of globalisation have impacted upon the local and linguistically surprisingly rather homogeneous cultural productions of Indonesia The main strands of inquiry in this second section are topics of global trends in religion responses to urban development the impact of popular literary developments and how traditions are revisited in order to come to terms with international cultural developments

Cultural Dynamics in a Globalized World Melani Budianta, Manneke Budiman, Abidin Kusno, Mikihiro Moriyama, 2017-12-14 The book contains essays on current issues in arts and humanities in which peoples and cultures compete as well as collaborate in globalizing the world while maintaining their uniqueness as viewed from cross and interdisciplinary perspectives The book covers areas such as literature cultural studies archaeology philosophy history language studies information and literacy studies and area studies Asia and the Pacific are the particular regions that the conference focuses on as they have become new centers of knowledge production in arts and humanities and in the future seem to be able to grow significantly as a major contributor of culture science and arts to the globalized world The book will help shed light on what arts and humanities scholars in Asia and the Pacific have done in terms of research and knowledge development as well as the new frontiers of research that have been explored and opening up which can connect the two regions with the rest of the globe

The Encoded Cirebon Mask Laurie Margot Ross, 2016-08-29 In The Encoded Cirebon Mask Materiality Flow and Meaning along Java's Islamic Northwest Coast Laurie Margot Ross situates masks and masked dancing in the Cirebon region of Java Indonesia as an original expression of Islam This is a different view from that of many scholars who argue that canonical prohibitions on fashioning idols and imagery prove that masks are mere relics of indigenous beliefs that Muslim travelers could not eradicate Making use of archives oral histories and the performing objects themselves Ross traces the mask's trajectory from a popular entertainment in Cirebon once a portal of global exchange to a stimulus for establishing a deeper connection to God in late colonial Java and eventual links to nationalism in post independence Indonesia

Rapport and the Discursive Co-Construction of Social Relations in Fieldwork Encounters Zane Goebel, 2019-08-19 In accounts of ethnographic fieldwork and textbooks on ethnography we often find the notion of rapport used to describe social relationships in the field Frequently rapport between researcher and researched is invoked as a prerequisite to be achieved before fieldwork can start or used as evidence to judge the value and robustness of an ethnography With few exceptions and despite regular pleas to do so ethnographers continue to avoid presenting any discursive evidence of what rapport might look like from an interactional perspective In a sense the uncritical acceptance of rapport as a fieldwork goal and measure has helped hide the discursive work that goes on in the field In turn this has privileged ideas about identity as portable rather than portable and emergent and reports of social life as more important than how such reports emerge Written for all those who engage or plan to engage in ethnographic fieldwork this collection examines how social relationships dialogically emerge in fieldwork settings

Language Ungoverned Tom G. Hoogervorst, 2021-08-15 By exploring a rich array of Malay texts from novels and newspapers to poems and plays Tom G Hoogervorst's Language Ungoverned examines how the Malay of the Chinese Indonesian community defied linguistic and political governance under Dutch colonial rule offering a fresh perspective on the subversive role of language in colonial power relations As a liminal colonial population the ethnic Chinese in Indonesia resorted to the press for their education legal and medical advice conflict resolution and entertainment Hoogervorst deftly depicts how the linguistic choices made by these print entrepreneurs brought Chinese inflected Malay to the fore as the language of popular culture and everyday life subverting the official Malay of the Dutch authorities Through his readings of Sino Malay print culture published between the 1910s and 1940s Hoogervorst highlights the inherent value of this vernacular Malay as a language of the people

Ekranisasi Awal Christopher A. Woodrich, 2018-05-29 In the early 20th century the Dutch East Indies was a colony in flux Greater access to education meant an increasingly literate financial elite and thus a burgeoning literary industry The lower class meanwhile found its entertainment in stage performances oral literature often loosely adapted from famous novels The film industry itself was attempting to find a successful formula and in its early years faced heavy competition from the theatre Educated women called for women's rights and protection of women's welfare as the economy began to transform from one based on the production of raw goods to one based in manufacturing In this turbulent background the social act of adapting films from novels emerged This phenomenon began in 1927 with the adaptation of Eulis Atjih by G Krugers and ended in 1942 before the Japanese occupation with the adaptation of Siti Noerbaja by Lie Tek Swie A total of eleven films were adapted from eight novels in the Indies Only one author had multiple works adapted and two novels were adapted more than once The nine producers and directors involved in adapting novels came from a variety of ethnicities The works adapted meanwhile were generally popular in wide society though often best known through stage performances and adaptations The adaptation process from this period has been little understood yet important for understanding the history of screen adaptations which are quickly becoming the most lucrative type of film in Indonesia This exciting new contribution sheds light on the obscure history of film adaptation in Indonesia and lays the groundwork for further research UGM Press UGM Gadjah Mada University Press Contact Talk Zane Goebel, Deborah Cole, Howard Manns, 2019-11-13 Written by a wide range of highly regarded scholars and exciting junior ones this book critiques and operationalizes contemporary thinking in the rapidly expanding field of linguistic anthropology It does so using case studies of actual everyday language practices from an extremely understudied yet incredibly important area of the Global South Indonesia In doing so it provides a rich set of studies that model and explain complex linguistic anthropological analysis in engaging and easily understood ways As a book that is both accessible for undergraduate students and enlightening for graduate students through to senior professors this book problematizes a wide range of assumptions The diversity of settings and methodologies used in this book surpass many recent collections that attempt to address issues surrounding contemporary processes of diversification given rapid ongoing social change In focusing on the trees so to speak the collection as a whole also enables readers to see the forest This approach provides a rare insight into relationships between everyday language practices social change and the ever present and ongoing processes of nation building Anthropologica ,2005 Includes reports of meetings of the institute

Bijdragen tot de taal-, land- en volkenkunde van Nederlandsch-Indië ,2006 Literatuur overzicht issued with v 95 Words in Motion Keith Foulcher, Mikihiro Moriyama, Manneke Budiman, 2012 Political changes since the fall of the Suharto regime in 1998 have had a significant impact on linguistic and discursive practices in Indonesia The language policy of the state has become less restrictive than in the past when Indonesian Bahasa Indonesia was vigorously promoted as one of the symbols of the unity of the country s diverse ethnic groups Monolingualism in public space has given way to more fluid and pluralistic language use and regional autonomy legislation enacted in 1999 has encouraged expressions of regional identities and aspirations opening up a space for the promotion and use of regional languages in the media education and the bureaucracy Concurrently technological development in particular widespread access to the internet has exposed Indonesian society much more directly than before to global flows of information giving rise to changes stemming in part from sources outside Indonesia but interpreted and shaped according to local conditions and socio cultural practices The meeting of these two vectors one generated internally and the other coming from exposure to global trends is producing a situation of diversity fluidity and change in language use and discursive practice in contemporary Indonesian society While contributors to this volume discuss Indonesian language expression at the national level a particular focus of the collection is on regional local and minority languages where problems associated with decentralization find their counterpart in the role that language plays in the workings of regional and national identity politics Review of Indonesian and Malaysian Affairs ,2004
