Wolf, 2012-04-01 Despite today's historically low maternal and infant mortality rates in the United States labor continues to evoke fear among American women Rather than embrace the natural childbirth methods promoted in the 1970s most women welcome epidural anesthesia and even Cesarean deliveries In Deliver Me from Pain Jacqueline H Wolf asks how a treatment such as obstetric anesthesia even when it historically posed serious risk to mothers and newborns paradoxically came to assuage women's anxiety about birth Each chapter begins with the story of a birth dramatically illustrating the unique practices of the era being examined Deliver Me from Pain covers the development and use of anesthesia from ether and chloroform in the mid nineteenth century to amnesiacs barbiturates narcotics opioids tranquilizers saddle blocks spinals and gas during the mid twentieth century to epidural anesthesia today Labor pain is not merely a physiological response but a phenomenon that mothers and physicians perceive through a historical social and cultural lens Wolf examines these influences and argues that medical and lay views of labor pain and the concomitant acceptance of obstetric anesthesia have had a ripple effect creating the conditions for acceptance of other often unnecessary and sometimes risky obstetric treatments forceps the chemical induction and augmentation of labor episiotomy electronic fetal monitoring and Cesarean section As American women make decisions about anesthesia today Deliver Me from Pain offers them insight into how women made this choice in the past and why each generation of mothers has made dramatically different decisions Blood so Beautiful Shauna Hockett,2020-09-17 Sometimes in life you have events that take but a quick moment to resolve And then there are those moments that change the course of your life forever These defining moments become your story to tell In 2014 Jeff was diagnosed with lymphoma and leukemia After chemo and brain radiation he was told by his physician in Indiana that nothing more could be done and that end of life care should be discussed Unwilling to give up Jeff was transported to the University of Nebraska Medical Center via air ambulance He eventually received an allogeneic bone marrow transplant and now lives cancer free Jeff and Shauna believe in the power of prayer and have witnessed modern day miracles unfold right before their very eyes Prepare to be amazed as you read the powerful account of their journey
