David McIntyre,1977 The author a professor of history at the University of Canterbury Christchurch New Zealand presents a comprehensive survey of Commonwealth history from the time of soul searching about the future of the British Empire which marked the middle years of Queen Victoria s reign to the year when Britain decided to enter the European Community The account is divided in three periods 1869 to 1917 1917 to 1941 and 1942 to 1971 Within each period a four fold thematic divisions is followed Dominions Indian Empire crown colonies and protectorates

Political Development and the New Realism in Sub-Saharan Africa David Ernest Apter,Carl Gustav Rosberg,1994 Since the 1950s David Apter and Carl Rosenberg have been among the leading American scholars in African Studies In this volume they along with other major specialists in the field explore the new configurations of African politics With tentative efforts at a revival of democracy now taking place it seems appropriate to reassess the theoretical debates and empirical themes that have characterized postwar Sub Saharan African politics Focusing on new realism that has emerged among Africanists since the dismantling of colonial rule the essays are presented as a corrective both to the initial euphoria informing African studies and to the later tendency to place blame for all Africa s political and economic difficulties on the receding specter of colonial oppression Generations Past Andrew Ross Burton,Helene Charton-Bigot,2010-10-19 Contemporary Africa is demographically characterized above all else by its youthfulness In East Africa the median age of the population is now a striking 17 5 years and more than 65 percent of the population is age 24 or under This situation has attracted growing scholarly attention resulting in an important and rapidly expanding literature on the position of youth in African societies While the scholarship examining the contemporary role of youth in African societies is rich and growing the historical dimension has been largely neglected in the literature thus far Generations Past seeks to address this gap through a wide ranging selection of essays that covers an array of youth related themes in historical perspective Thirteen chapters explore the historical dimensions of youth in nineteenth twentieth and twenty first century Ugandan Tanzanian and Kenyan societies Key themes running through the book include the analytical utility of youth as a social category intergenerational relations and the passage of time youth as a social and political problem sex and gender roles among East African youth and youth as historical agents of change The strong list of contributors includes prominent scholars of the region and the collection encompasses a good geographical spread of all three East African countries The Rise of a Party-State in Kenya Jennifer A. Widner,2023-04-28 Although Kenya is often considered an African success story its political climate became increasingly repressive under its second president Daniel arap Moi Widner charts the transformation of the Kenya African National Union KANU from a weak loosely organized political party under Jomo Kenyatta into an arm of the president's office with watchdog youth wings and strong surveillance and control functions under Moi She suggests that single party systems have an inherent tendency to become party states or single party regimes in which the head of state uses the party as a means of control The speed and extent of these changes depend on the countervailing power of independent interest groups such as business associations farmers or professionals Widner's study offers important insights into the dynamics of party systems in Africa Although Kenya is often considered an African success story its political climate became increasingly repressive under its second president Daniel arap Moi Widner charts the transformation of the Kenya African National Union KANU from a weak loosely

Food Insecurity and the Social Division of Labour in Tanzania, 1919-85 D. Bryceson, 1990-07-08 Most studies of famine and the African food crisis stress how the socio economic context influences the occurrence of food shortages By contrast this book argues that food insecurity itself influences the social and economic organization of the society Through this approach the author provides a new interpretation of the causes and consequences of Tanzania's present economic crisis The book examines the effects of changing food availability on the functioning of the state the market and clientage networks over the past seven decades The conclusion is that clientage is no less important than the state and market as an organizational force in Tanzanian society and under heightened food insecurity the state and market lose ground to clientage

Elections in Africa Dieter Nohlen, Bernard Thibaut, Michael Krennerich, 1999-07-22 Elections have always been an integral part of post independence African politics and have assumed utmost importance in the course of recent democratisation processes However comparative research on the political development in Africa lacks reliable electoral data Elections in Africa fills this gap The handbook is the only reliable source for African elections from independence to present In the first volume of this series Elections in Africa presents a country by country study of African nations that provides a comparative introduction on elections and electoral systems Each country chapter examines the history of the institutional and electoral arrangements the evolution of suffrage and current electoral provisions Precise and exhaustive data on national elections and referendums are presented comparatively The book provides a definitive and comprehensive set of data on elections and electoral systems in order to facilitate comparative research Data is presented in a systematic manner allowing for both historical and cross national comparisons

African Economies and the Politics of Permanent Crisis, 1979-1999 Nicolas Van de Walle, 2001-09-24 This Book explains why African countries have remained mired in a disastrous economic crisis since the late 1970s It shows that dynamics internal to African state structures largely explain this failure to overcome economic difficulties rather than external pressures on these same structures as is often argued Far from being prevented from undertaking reforms by societal interest and pressure groups clientelism within the state elite ideological factors and low state capacity have resulted in some limited reform but much prevarication and manipulation of the reform process by governments which do not really believe that reform will be effective

Scarcity, Choice and Public Policy in Middle Africa Donald Rothchild, Robert L. Curry Jr., 2023-11-15 New challenges and opportunities have come to the fore as the middle African States have consolidated their independence In grappling with economic scarcity and restricted choice decision makers must transform domestic institutions and practices and reformulate their relationship to the global economy The authors of this book believe that their efforts can be advanced by resorting to a problem solving focus Such an approach will in their opinion allow social scientists to remain true to their professional disciplines while permitting them to embrace African designated objectives By inquiring into decision processes and results policy analysis seeks to identify optimal courses of action in the context of prevailing societal demands and constraints In general African decision makers have adopted three choice strategies with an eye to reducing scarcity and expanding alternatives accommodation reorganization and transformation When these choice strategies are related to system goals striking variations in preferences and priorities emerge the most significant of which concern decision on mobilizing and distributing resources and achieving freedom from external control In various trade off situations involving negotiations by producer cartels bargaining between multinational companies and African host countries and external economic assistance diverse policy patters among the groups in relating to the benefits and costs of particular lines of action appear Each choice strategy has its own benefit cost combination Since no approach may be equally valid cross nationally the decision elites of each country are left with the responsibility for determining their own goals and priorities New challenges and opportunities have come to the fore as the middle African States have consolidated their independence In grappling with economic scarcity and restricted choice decision makers must transform domestic institutions and practices and ref
