Mihajlovic, 2023-11-15 Compiled from various sources some still classified and many of which have never previously been published this book clearly portrays the development of the Russian air and ballistic missile defense systems During the Cold War the Soviet Union invested heavily in its air defense systems As a result Russia now possesses the most advanced air and ballistic missile defense systems in the world Russian air defense systems are also highly proliferated and are currently in use by many countries Since the end of the Cold War and the breakup of the USSR it has become increasingly possible to study Russian air defense but Russia is by no means an open book on defense related subjects Some information circulates in the media but for the time being air defense systems are still subject to a degree of speculation Air and ballistic missile defense programs in the Soviet Union and Russia have a very long history Soviet engineers started working on both programs in the 1950s and by 1960 they had built the first successful systems able to intercept enemy aircraft and intermediate range ballistic missiles Current Russian air defense doctrine follows a layered multi level approach providing in depth coverage from any aerial or ballistic missile attack This layered system allows Russian air defense forces to create zones that can be very difficult to penetrate The highest level of these defensive networks uses long range systems providing air defense umbrellas potentially up to 500 km The second level includes medium range systems like the S 350 and Buk variants infamous for downing Malaysian Airline s flight MH17 over the Ukraine in 2014 This medium range level is intended to provide air defense zones which are also covered under the long range systems but are more cost effective in this envelope The third level presents mobile short range systems which are intended to provide extra protection for the long range systems as well as stationary objects These systems along with highly mobile systems like the Buk are often also attached to ground forces formations such as armored and mechanized divisions and brigades What are the abilities of these systems against NATO President Putin emphasized the need to strengthen the country's air defenses amid NATO's military activities near Russia's borders One of the key new concept developments is counter stealth detection and interception The other is to counter future hypersonic missile threats It is as the author reveals Russia that is leading the way in these races US Military Innovation Since the Cold War Harvey Sapolsky, Benjamin Friedman, Brendan Green, 2009-04-28 This book explains how the US military reacted to the Revolution in Military Affairs (RMA) and failed to innovate its organization or doctrine to match the technological breakthroughs it brought about Many called for the transformation of the US military in the years after the end of the Cold War seeking the changes in organization and doctrine that would complete the RMA innovation and a commitment to counter insurgency peace keeping and nation building missions This volume describes the origins uses and limits of the RMA technologies examines how each of the five US armed services categorising the Special Operations as a separate service made their adjustments both to the technologies and the use of force and how the role of the civilian officials and the defense industry altered in this process of change and avoidance of change The book examines the internal politics of the services as well as civil military relations to identify the external pressures on the services for significant change in their doctrine and weapons Many have noted the failure of the services to innovate in what can be called the Second Inter war Period the years after the Cold War This book offers explanations for this failure and arguments about the possible range and desirability of military innovation in the post Cold war era This book will be of great interest to students of strategic studies US defence politics military studies and US politics Harvey M Sapolsky is Professor of Public Policy and Organization in the Department of Political Science at MIT and former Director of the Security Studies Program Benjamin H Friedman is a Research Fellow in Defense and Homeland Security Studies at the Cato Institute and a Ph D Candidate in Political Science at MIT Brendan Green is a Ph D Candidate in Political Science at MIT and an affiliate of the Security Studies Program values like heteronormativity and white supremacy      Antenna Radar Cross Section: Theory and Design Ying Liu, Yongtao Jia, Shuxi Gong, 2025-04-19 This is the first book to focus specifically on antenna RCS reduction theory and design approaches. It covers both principles and engineering practice and provides an in-depth study of a number of important topics including fundamental theory, antenna and array analysis models, the rapid numerical computation method, and various low RCS antenna design methods. The comprehensive and systematic discussion of practical issues in antenna RCS reduction makes it an ideal resource for readers interested in practical solutions to antenna stealth, particularly researchers, engineers, and graduate students in the fields of microwave engineering, electrical and electronic engineering, and telecommunications engineering.      Image Understanding Workshop, 1994      MOAR!
