Minding the Gap Nancy Hoffman, Joel Vargas, Andrea Venezia, 2007 Minding the Gap argues that in today s highly competitive global economy all young people need a postsecondary education Yet only one in ten students from the lowest economic quintile in the United States currently earns a postsecondary credential This timely and instructive book from Jobs for the Future explores policies and practices that would quickly enable a larger number of low income and first generation college students to earn postsecondary degrees In doing so Minding the Gap calls for a system that thoroughly integrates secondary and postsecondary education a system in which a college degree is the goal for all students Minding the Gap is an invaluable resource for policymakers and practitioners interested in eliminating the gap between secondary and postsecondary education It focuses on those factors that must be addressed if the gap is to be eliminated the lack of coordination between secondary and college curricula dramatically different approaches to funding for public schools and higher education and the lack of coordinated data systems spanning the educational continuum from kindergarten through college This is a mustread for all those interested in increasing the number of American college graduates Freeman A Hrabowski III President University of Maryland Baltimore County This comprehensive collection offers a bracing examination of the anachronistic divide that separates K 12 schooling and higher education to the detriment of both It explains how this state of affairs came about why it s a problem and what can be done about it The contributors provide concrete and concise guidance on implementation promising models policy data systems and financial aid This is an important book for educators and reformers serious about reinventing high school and tearing down the barriers to college access Frederick M Hess Director of Education Policy Studies American Enterprise Institute In today s economy a college education is a must for every citizen Minding the Gap shares innovative strategies for improving the delivery system of college so it is affordable and attainable for every child in America Mike Easley Governor of North Carolina Minding the Gap highlights the importance of raising the bar for high school and postsecondary education in the United States Most important it acknowledges that we must do a better job of reaching out to underserved and low income communities to raise the educational level of their students and to provide them with the critical skills needed for the future global workforce Charles B Reed Chancellor California State University Edited by Nancy Hoffman Joel Vargas Andrea

Venezia and Marc S Miller Students of Color and the Achievement Gap Richard R. Valencia, 2015-03-05 Students of Color and the Achievement Gap is a comprehensive landmark analysis of an incontrovertible racialized reality in U S K 12 public education the relentless achievement gap between low socioeconomic students of color and their economically advantaged White counterparts Award winning author and scholar Richard Valencia provides an authoritative and systemic treatment of the achievement gap focusing on Black and Latino Latina students He examines the societal and educational factors that help to create and maintain the achievement gap by drawing from critical race theory an asset based perspective and a systemic inequality approach By showing how racialized opportunity structures in society and schools ultimately result in racialized patterns of academic achievement in schools Valencia shows how the various indicators of the achievement gap are actually symptoms of the societal and school quality gaps Following each of these concerns Valencia provides a number of reform suggestions that can lead to systemic transformations of K 12 education Students of Color and the Achievement Gap makes a persuasive and well documented case that school success for students of color and the empowerment of their parents can only be fully understood and realized when contextualized within broader political economic and cultural frameworks
