This Reader gathers influential and contemporary work in the study of emotion and affective life from across the range of the social sciences. Drawing on both theoretical and empirical research, the collection offers a sense of the diversity of perspectives that have emerged over the last thirty years from a variety of intellectual traditions. The volume is divided into four main parts: universals and particulars of affect; embodying affect; political economies of affect; affect, power and justice. Each main part comprises three sections dedicated to substantive themes: emotions, history and civilization; emotions and culture; emotions, selfhood and identity; emotions and the media; emotions and politics; emotions, space and place, with a final section dedicated to themes of compassion, hate and terror. Each of the twelve sections begins with an editorial introduction that contextualizes the readings and highlights points of comparison across the volume. Cross national in content, the collection provides an introduction to the key debates, concepts and modes of approach that have been developed by social scientists for the study of emotion and affective life. Ethnography Brewer, John, 2000-12-01. New Statesman Society ,1993 Persistent Young

Offenders David Loble,David Smith,2016-05-13 Based on some of the most interesting research of the last ten years this book discusses effective practice in work with persistent young offenders It contrasts two major evaluations of projects for juvenile offenders one of which was successful and the other less so The projects Freagarrach and CueTen were funded by The Scottish Office and the Scottish Executive Freagarrach was evaluated over five years from 1995 and CueTen over three years its entire lifespan from 1996 This book makes the findings of these projects available to a wider readership setting them in a wider discursive framework than is appropriate in a government report The authors identify the factors that made Freagarrach a more successful project than CueTen arguing that an understanding of these factors is important in drawing general conclusions from the experience of the two projects and that this is particularly the case because some of these factors have received little attention in recent discussions of what works in community based programmes for offenders This is a detailed and thorough study of work with juvenile offenders which will be of particular value to those interested in less punitive approaches It will be of interest both to practitioners and to academics in criminology social policy and social work
