Steven Laurence Kaplan, 2018-09-05 Dependence upon grain deeply marked every aspect of life in eighteenth century France. Steven Kaplan focuses upon this dependence at the point where it placed the greatest strain on the state, the society and the individual on the daily supply of grain and flour that furnished the staff of life. He reconstructs the history of provisioning in pre industrial Paris and provides a comprehensive view of a culture shaped by the subsistence imperative. Who were the agents of the provisioning trade? What were their commercial practices? What sorts of relations did they maintain with each other? How did the authorities regulate their business? To answer these questions Professor Kaplan combed the archives and libraries of France. He maps out the elementary structures of the trade and shows how they were transformed as a result of cultural and political as well as commercial and technological changes. In rich ethnographic detail he evokes the day to day life of merchants, millers, bakers, brokers and market officials. He shows how flour superseded grain and how the millers overtook the merchants in the provisioning process. He explores the tension between the suppliers' need for freedom and the consumers' need for security. Even as he weaves the intricate patterns of life inside and outside the marketplace he never loses sight of the immense interests at stake: the stability and legitimacy of the government, the durability of the social structure and the survival of the people.

Taste and See Margaret Feinberg, 2019-01-22 Join Margaret Feinberg, one of America's most beloved teachers and writers as she sets out on a remarkable journey to unearth God's perspective on food. What you discover will forever change the way you read the Bible and approach every meal. This groundbreaking book provides a culinary exploration of Scripture. You'll descend 400 feet below ground into the frosty white caverns of a salt mine, fish on the Sea of Galilee, bake fresh matzo at Yale University, ferry to a remote island in Croatia to harvest olives, spend time with a Texas butcher known as the meat apostle and wander a California farm with one of the world's premier fig farmers. With each stop Margaret asks: How do you read these Scriptures not as theologians but in light of what you do every day? Taste and See teaches us that as we break bread we find the satisfaction of our deepest hungers; in the community our souls crave. As we share our lives we taste and see God's fruitfulness. When we're tempted to lose heart and we all will be, we find courage in listening to and participating in stories of God's rescuing ways. In the midst of a busy life we can all create space to taste and see God's goodness. Taste and See is a delicious read that includes dozens of recipes for those who like Margaret believe some of life's richest moments are spent savoring a meal with those you love. See you around the table. Praise for Taste and See: Margaret Feinberg's appetite for the feast of His grace makes you hunger for more of a fulfilling life. Read and taste the richest food for the soul. Ann Voskamp, bestselling author of WayMaker and One Thousand Gifts. Margaret is a storyteller who never ceases to see the beauty of the world around us. If you love God, good food and life around the table, this book will take you on an unforgettable culinary journey through the Bible. Jennie Allen, bestselling author of Get Out of Your Head and founder of IF Gathering.

Materia Medica Pura Samuel Hahnemann, 1846 Handbook of Breadmaking Technology C. A. Stear, 2012-12-06 The author's aim in writing this book is to integrate currently available knowledge concerning the basic scientific and technological aspects of breadmaking processes with the diverse breadmaking methods used to manufacture bread in Europe and on the North American continent today To date the main technological advances have been in process mechanization starting with oven development then dough processing or make up equipment followed by continuous and batch mixing techniques from the 1950s to the present time On the engineering side universal emphasis is now being placed on the application of high technology in the form of microprocessors computer controlled equipment and robotization the long term objective being computer integrated manufacture CIM with full automation within the large chain bakery groups in the capitalist countries and the state run collectives of Eastern Europe The application of these key technologies with biotechnology as yet only applied to a limited degree in food manufacture coupled with advances in biochemical and rheological understanding of dough as a biomass for breadmaking should provide us with more expertise and ability to control the processes with greater efficiency The application of fermentable substrates and industrial enzymes under strict kinetic control should contribute to improving the flavour characteristics of bread Current trends towards improving the nutritional contribution of bread to the daily diet are improving the competitive edge of bread as a basic food in the market place
