The Heritage of Armenian Literature: From the oral tradition to the Golden Age Agop Jack Hacıkyan, Gabriel Basmajian, Edward S. Franchuk, Nourhan Ouzounian, 2000 Armenian written literature originated almost 16 centuries ago with the invention of the Armenian alphabet This anthology translated into English takes a comprehensive approach to capturing the essence of the literature of the entire period covered The Ottoman East in the Nineteenth Century Ali Sipahi, Dzovinar Derderian, Yasar Tolga Cora, 2016-06-10 The Ottoman East what is also called Western Armenia Northern Kurdistan or Eastern Anatolia compared to other peripheries of the Ottoman Empire has received very little attention in Ottoman historiography So called taboo subjects such as the fate of Ottoman Armenians and the Kurdish Question during the latter years of the Ottoman Empire have contributed to this dearth of analysis By integrating the Armenian and Kurdish elements into the study of the Ottoman Empire this book seeks to emphasise the interaction of different ethno religious groups As an area where Ottoman centralization faced unsurpassable challenges the Ottoman East offers an ideal opportunity to examine an alternative social and political model for imperial governance and the means by which provincial rule interacted with the Ottoman centre Discussing vital issues across this geographical area such as trade routes regional economic trends migration patterns and the molding of local and national identities this book offers a unique and fresh approach to the history and politics of modernization and empire in the wider region The Tsar's Armenians Onur Önoğlu, 2017-05-30 In 1903 Tsar Nicholas II issued a decree allowing the confiscation of Armenian Church property marking the low point in relations between imperial Russia and its Armenian subjects Yet just over a decade later Russian Armenians were fully supportive of the Russian war effort Drawing on previously untouched archival material and a range of secondary sources published in English French Russian and Turkish this is the first English language study of this drastic change in relations in the Caucasus Onur Onol explains how and why the shift took place by looking in detail at the imperial Russian authorities and their relationship with the three pillars of the Russian Armenian community the Armenian Church the Armenian bourgeoisie and the Armenian Revolutionary Federation Dashnaktsutjun Onol places the evolution within a context of wider political questions such as the Russian revolutionary movement Russia's nationalities question Tsarist fears of pan Islamism the path to World War I and the influence of key characters in Russian policy making from Pyotr Stolypin to Illarion Vorontsov Dashkov This book fills a conspicuous void in the extant historiography and will be of interest to scholars working on Russian Armenian and Ottoman history

The History of Armenia Simon Payaslian, 2007-12-26 There is a great deal of interest in the history of Armenia since its renewed independence in the 1990s and the ongoing debate about the genocide an interest that informs the strong desire of a new generation of Armenian Americans to learn more about their heritage and has led to greater solidarity in the community By integrating themes such as war geopolitics and great leaders with the less familiar cultural themes and personal stories this book will appeal to general readers and travellers interested in the region

The Thirty-Year Genocide Benny Morris, Dror Ze'evi, 2019-04-24 A Financial Times Book of the Year A Foreign Affairs Book of the Year A Spectator Book of the Year A landmark contribution to the study of these epochal events Times Literary Supplement Brilliantly researched and written casts a careful eye upon the ghastly events that took place in the final decades of the Ottoman empire when its rulers decided to annihilate their Christian subjects Hitler and the Nazis gleaned lessons from this genocide that they then applied to their own efforts to extirpate Jews Jacob Heilbrunn The Spectator Between 1894 and 1924 three waves of violence swept across Anatolia targeting the region's Christian minorities By 1924 the Armenians Assyrians and Greeks once nearly a quarter of the population had been reduced to 2 percent Most historians have treated these waves as distinct isolated events and successive Turkish governments presented them as an unfortunate sequence of accidents The Thirty Year Genocide is the first account to show that all three were actually part of a single continuing and intentional effort to wipe out Anatolia's Christian population Despite the dramatic swing from the Islamizing autocracy of the sultan to the secularizing republicanism of the post World War I period the nation's annihilationist policies were remarkably constant with continual recourse to premeditated mass killing homicidal deportation forced conversion and mass rape And one thing more was a constant the rallying cry of jihad While not justified under the teachings of Islam the killing of two million Christians was effected through the calculated exhortation of the Turks to create a pure Muslim nation A subtle diagnosis of why at particular moments over a span of three decades Ottoman rulers and their successors unleashed torrents of suffering Bruce Clark New York Times Book Review

Women and Genocide JoAnn DiGeorgio-Lutz, Donna Gosbee, 2016-04-25 Illuminating the unique experiences of women both during and after genocide JoAnn DiGeorgio Lutz and Donna Gosbee's edited collection is a vital addition to genocide scholarship. The contributors revisit genocides of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries from Armenia in 1915 to Gujarat in 2002, examining the roles of women as victims, witnesses, survivors, and rescuers. The text underscores women's experiences as a central yet often overlooked component to the understanding of genocide. Drawing from narratives, memoirs, testimonies, and literature, this groundbreaking volume brings together women's stories of victimization, trauma, and survival. Each chapter is framed by a consistent methodology to allow for a comparative analysis, revealing the ways in which women's experiences across genocides are similar and yet profoundly different. By looking at genocide from a gendered perspective, Women and Genocide constitutes an important contribution to feminist research on war and political violence. Featuring critical thinking questions and concise histories of each genocidal period, this highly accessible text is an ideal resource for both students and instructors in this field and for anyone interested in the study of women's lives in times of violence and conflict.

Picturing the Ottoman Armenian World David Low, 2022-06-30. The Armenian contribution to Ottoman photography is supposedly well known with histories documenting the famous Ottoman Armenian-run studios of the imperial capital that produced Orientalist visions for tourists and images of modernity for a domestic elite. Neglected, however, have been the practitioners of the eastern provinces where the majority of Ottoman Armenians were to be found, with the result that their role in the medium has been obscured and wider Armenian history and experience distorted. Photography in the Ottoman East was grounded in very different concerns with the work of studios rooted in the seismic social, political, and cultural shifts that reshaped the region and Armenian lives during the empire's last decades. The first study of its kind, this book examines photographic activity in three sites on the Armenian plateau: Erzurum, Harput, and Van. Arguing that local photographic practices were marked by the dominant activities and movements of these places, it describes a medium bound up in educational endeavours, mass migration, and revolutionary politics. The camera both responded to and became the instrument of these phenomena. Light is shone on previously unknown practitioners and, more vitally, a perspective is gained on the communities that they served. The book suggests that by contemplating the ways in which photographs were made, used, circulated, and seen, we might form a picture of the Ottoman Armenian world.

An Armenian Mediterranean Kathryn Babayan, Michael Pifer, 2018-05-07. This book rethinks the Armenian people as significant actors in the context of Mediterranean and global history. Spanning a millennium of cross-cultural interaction and exchange across the Mediterranean world, essays move between connected histories, frontier studies, comparative literature, and discussions of trauma, memory, diaspora, and visual culture. Contributors dismantle narrow national ways of understanding Armenian literature, propose new frameworks for mapping the post-Ottoman Mediterranean world, and navigate the challenges of writing national history in a globalized age. A century after the Armenian genocide, this book reimagines the borders of the Armenian, pointing to a fresh vision for the field of Armenian studies that is omnivorously comparative, deeply interconnected, and rich with possibility.

Transmitting and Circulating the Late Antique and Byzantine Worlds ,2019-10-29 Transmitting and Circulating the Late Antique and Byzantine Worlds seeks to be a crucial contribution to the history of medieval connectedness Using one of the methodological tools associated with the global history movement this volume aims to use connectedness to revitalise local and regional networks of exchange and movement Its case studies collectively point caution toward assuming or asserting global scale transmission of meaning or items unchanged and show instead how meaning is locally produced and regionally formulated and how this is no less dynamic than any global level connectedness These case studies by early career scholars range from the movement of cotton growing practices to the transmission of information within individual texts Their wide scope however is nonetheless united by their preoccupation with transmission and circulation as categories of analysing or explaining movement and change in history This volume hopes to be therefore a useful contribution to the growing field of a history of connectivity and connectedness Contributors are Jovana An elkovi Pet r Bara Mathew Barber Julia Burdajewicz Adele Curness Carl Dixon Alex MacFarlane Anna Kelley Matteo G Randazzo Katinka Sewing and Grace Stafford See inside the book
