Marwick, 1965 Public Health at the Border of Zimbabwe and Mozambique, 1890-1940 Francis Dube, 2020-06-29 This book is the first major work to explore the utility of the border as a theoretical methodological and interpretive construct for understanding colonial public health by considering African experiences in the Zimbabwe Mozambique borderland It examines the impact of colonial public health measures such as medical examinations inspections vaccinations and border surveillance on African villagers in this borderland The book asks whether the conjunction of a particular colonized society a distinctive kind of colonialism and a particular territorial border generated reluctance to embrace public health because of certain colonial circumstances which impeded the acceptance of therapeutic alternatives that were embraced by colonized people elsewhere It asks historians to look elsewhere for similar kinds of histories involving racialized application of public health policies in colonial borderlands Strangers, Spirits, and Land Reforms Marja Spierenburg, 2021-10-11 This book describes efforts by the Zimbabwean government to enforce land reforms on African farmers in northern Zimbabwe These efforts compounded rather than alleviated the problem of land scarcity for black small scale farmers a problem government now allegedly seeks to redress through invasions of white owned farms The book describes the similarities between the post Independence land reforms and those attempted by the Rhodesian regime The land reforms in Dande rendered a considerable number of farmers officially landless The book describes the resulting internal conflicts over land within the communities in Dande as well as the more concerted forms of resistance of these communities vis a vis the state Attention is also given to the role the spirit mediums of the royal ancestors Mhondoro played in this resistance Borders and Healers Tracy J.
