Sound Of The Trees A Novel:

The Sound of the Trees Robert Gatewood, 2003-06 In the American Southwest in 1930 Trude Mason and his mother ride out into the predawn quiet hoping to escape Trude's brutal violent father and an equally violent past They plan on reaching Colorado a place they believe holds the biggest ranches the most limitless promise and lives of the greatest ease What Trude finds in a small border town in New Mexico however is brutality and lawlessness in the form of a cruel pitiless sheriff and his devoted posse When they arrest and sentence to death a young woman whose life Trude has saved he must endure an explosive collision between conscience and self preservation

The Sound Book: The Science of the Sonic Wonders of the World Trevor Cox, 2014-02-10 A professor of acoustic engineering provides a tour of the world's most amazing sound phenomena including creaking glaciers whispering galleries stalactite organs musical roads humming dunes seals that sound like alien angels and a Mayan pyramid that chirps like a bird

Trees in Nineteenth-Century English Fiction Anna Burton, 2021-03-28 This is a book about a longstanding network of writers and writings that celebrate the aesthetic socio political scientific ecological geographical and historical value of trees and tree spaces in the landscape and it is a study of the effect of this tree writing upon the novel form in the long nineteenth century Trees in Nineteenth Century English Fiction The Silvicultural Novel identifies the picturesque thinker William Gilpin as a significant influence in this literary and environmental tradition Remarks on Forest Scenery 1791 is formed by Gilpin's own observations of trees forests and his New Forest home specifically but it is also the product of tree stories collected from travellers and historians that came before him This study tracks the impact of this accumulating arboreal discourse upon nineteenth century environmental writers such as John Claudius Loudon Jacob George Strutt William Howitt and Mary Roberts and its influence on varied dialogues surrounding natural history agriculture landscaping deforestation and public health Building upon this concept of an ongoing silvicultural discussion the monograph examines how novelists in the realist mode engage with this discourse and use their understanding of arboreal space and its cultural worth in order to transform their own fictional environments Through their novelistic framing of single trees clumps forests ancient woodlands and man made plantations Jane Austen Elizabeth Gaskell and Thomas Hardy feature as authors of particular interest Collectively in their environmental representations these novelists engage with a broad range of silvicultural conversation in their writing of space at the beginning middle and end of the nineteenth century This book will be of great interest to students researchers and academics working in the environmental humanities long nineteenth century literature nature writing and environmental literature environmental history ecocriticism and literature and science scholarship

The Book of Trees: Descriptive of the Principal Timber-trees, and the Larger Species of Palms, 1837

The Nature Book Tom Comitta, 2023-03-14 Part sweeping evocation of Earth's rhythms part literary archive part post human novel The Nature Book collages descriptions of the natural world into a singular symphonic paean to the planet What does our nature writing say about us and more urgently what would it say without us Tom Comitta investigates these questions and more in The Nature Book a literary supercut that arranges writing about the natural world from three hundred works of fiction into a provocative re envisioning of the novel With fiction s traditional background of flora and fauna brought to the fore people and their structures disappear giving center stage to animals landforms and weather patterns honored in their own right rather than for their ambient role in human drama The Nature Book challenges the confines of anthropocentrism with sublime artistic vision traversing mountains forests oceans and space to shift our attention toward the magnificently complex and interconnected world around us
