Knight, Timothy Lee, Kom Campiranon, Bongkosh Rittichainuwat, Ann Suwaree Ashton, John Koldowski, Melody Zhirui Zhou, 2025-05-30 At the centre of the elephant tourism industry lie two profound challenges the delicate balance between income and compassion and the severe threats to the survival of all remaining elephant species Trained elephants exchange hands for staggering sums reaching up to 100 000 each yet the colossal appetites of the herds with each elephant devouring over 100 kilograms of sustenance daily pose formidable economic challenges for camp owners An elephant camp's revenue is dependent on tourism with a complex web of specialist businesses local and international large and small contracted to recruit and enable visitors This results in competition focused mainly on price and profitability considerations The inadequacies of these business networks and of the administrative controls within which they operate were demonstrated during the complete shutdown of elephant tourism venues in early 2020 due to COVID 19 This authoritative text analyses elephants vulnerabilities providing an inspiring call to action for a more compassionate coexistence between elephants and the stakeholders responsible for their individual and herd welfare and survival Elephant Welfare in Global Tourism is intended for managers professionals and administrators of elephant camps refuges and rescue centres and for NGOs providing advice and support Academic researchers on wildlife may find inspiration for suitable topics and examples of current methodologies

Wild Things Patricia Jasen, 1995-01-01 Europeans in the nineteenth century were fascinated with the wild and the primitive So compelling was the craving for a first hand experience of wilderness that it provided a lasting foundation for tourism as a consumer industry In this book Patricia Jasen shows how the region now known as Ontario held special appeal for tourists seeking to indulge a passion for wild country or act out their fantasies of primitive life Niagara Falls the Thousand Islands Muskoka and the far reaches of Lake Superior all offered the experiences tourists valued most the tranquil pleasures of the picturesque the excitement of the sublime and the sensations of nostalgia associated with Canada s disappearing wilderness Jasen situates her work within the context of recent writings about tourism history and the semiotics of tourism about landscape perception and images of wildness and wilderness and about the travel narrative as a literary genre She explores a number of major themes including the imperialistic appropriation and commercialization of landscape into tourist images services and souvenirs In a study of class gender and race Jasen finds that by the end of the century most workers still had little opportunity for travel while the middle classes had come to regard holidays as a right and a duty in light of Social Darwinist concerns about preserving the health of the race Women travellers have been disregarded or marginalized in many studies of the history of tourism but this book makes their presence known and analyses their experience It also examines against the backdrop of nineteenth century racism and expansionism the major role played by Native people in the tourist industry The first book to explore the cultural foundations of tourism in Ontario Wild Things also makes a major contribution to the literature on the wilderness ideal in North America

Resource Sustainability and Caribbean Development Duncan F. M. McGregor, David Barker, Sally Lloyd-Evans, 1998 Resource Sustainability and Caribbean Development follows on from Barker and McGregor's earlier edited volume Environment and Development in the Caribbean Geographical Perspectives 1995 and aims to focus more specifically on the theme of sustainability and to examine research contributions of geographers to problems of sustainability in the Caribbean region While the problems of environmental degradation have increased in recent decades the ability of Caribbean governments to cope with the consequences appears to have been eroded There is however a growing recognition within the region of the need for development strategies that focus on the social needs of the people yet simultaneously protect the fragile natural environment It is hoped that the research presented here will serve to inform the wider research and decision making community of the main problems associated with resource sustainability in the region and of some of the major research directions crucial to the alleviation of these problems Preface

Inclusive Place Branding Mihalis Karavatzis, Massimo Giovanardi, Maria Lichrou, 2017-11-22 Place branding is often a response to inter place competition and discussed as if it operated in a vacuum ignoring the needs of local communities It has developed a set of methods catchy slogans colourful logos star architects bidding for City of Culture status etc that are applied as quick fix solutions regardless of geographical and socio political contexts Critical views of place branding are emerging which focus on its unexplored consequences on the physical and social fabric of places These more critical approaches reveal place branding as an essentially political activity serving hidden agendas and marginalizing social groups Scholars and practitioners can no longer ignore the need for more responsible and socially sensitive approaches to cater for a wider range of stakeholders and which fully acknowledge the importance of resident participation in decision making The contributions in this innovative book set out to introduce new critical ways of thinking around place branding and practices that encourage it to be more inclusive and participatory It will be of interest to researchers and advanced students of branding critical marketing and destination marketing as well as critical tourism and environmental design
