Treating Traumatic Bereavement Laurie Anne Pearlman, Camille

B. Wortman, Catherine A. Feuer, Christine H. Farber, Therese A. Rando, 2014-01-13 This book presents an integrated treatment approach for those struggling to adapt after the sudden traumatic death of a loved one The authors weave together evidence based clinical strategies grounded in cutting edge knowledge about both trauma and grief The book offers a clear framework and many practical tools for building survivors psychological and interpersonal resources processing their trauma and facilitating mourning In a large size format with lay flat binding for easy photocopying the book includes over 30 reproducible handouts Purchasers can access a companion website to download and print these materials as well as supplemental handouts and a sample 25 session treatment plan Winner Second Place American Journal of Nursing Book of the Year Award Psychiatric and Mental Health Nursing Category Cytotoxic Cells: Recognition, Effector Function, Generation, and Methods SITKOVSKY, HENKART, 2012-12-06 Our motivation for putting together this book was the need for a single source reference that could be used as an introduction to cell mediated cytotoxicity for newcomers to this field such as students and fellows beginning work in our laboratories At present no such book is available and we felt that it would be useful as a teaching tool and as a way of conveying our enthusiasm about recent progress in the cytotoxicity field to our colleagues in allied areas It was with some hesitation that we approached our colleagues with the proposal for this book and we were pleased to find them very supportive of the idea and willing to participate We thought it important to broaden the scope of the book to include historical molecular cell biological and clinical aspects of cell mediated cytotoxicity To our knowledge this is the first book on cell mediated cytotoxicity with such a broad scope Historically studies on cellular cytotoxicity were part of cellular immunology from its origin One development of tremendous import was the advent of the 51 Cr assay which allowed this arm of the immune response to be measured easily and quantitatively Thus a readout of this effector pathway is available within a few hours other immune effector functions can take days or even longer to assay and the assays are often less quantitative Handbook of B and T Lymphocytes , 2012-12-02 To compile this up to date handbook Dr Charles Snow of the University of Kentucky Medical Center has assembled works by a premier group of active investigators who meet the needs of today's researchers The handbook provides a broad overview of the historical and current research in B and T cell biology and presents the latest developments in this fast breaking field to all professionals concerned with the humoral immune response of the body PARP as a Therapeutic Target Jei Zhang, 2002-03-06 Recent research in cell death mechanisms has rekindled interest in PARP's Poly ADP Ribose Polymerase intriguing role in necrosis and apoptosis While the details of how PARP1 functions are still being elucidated it has tremendous potential as a promising drug target PARP inhibitors dual actions of preventing cell death and abating inflammation Memory and Recovery in Times of Crisis Fiona Larkan, Fiona Murphy, 2017-11-09 This book presents a social scientific reading of the challenges of memory and recovery in times of crisis Drawing on different interpretations of what constitutes crisis this collection uses lenses of economics identity and commemoration to question how memory and recovery is being constituted through larger discourses of political claims of moving forward healing and identity Memory and Recovery in Times of Crisis examines how memory is dis or re interred through social processes and further how recovered memories are challenged or legitimized It also presents a set of questions that will stimulate further reflections on what kind of role understandings of memory of crisis can play in recovery Given the world we find ourselves living in in 2017 a world subject to multiple intersecting crises how we understand the dynamics of memory and recovery is a pressing issue indeed This book will appeal to both scholars and students of anthropology and sociology

Studies on the Optimal Search Plan Koji Iida,2012-12-06 Search theory is concerned with the location of a target given imprecise information concerning its location The subject has a variety of applications such as locating missing people in wilderness or at sea searching for mineral deposits medical diagnosis and searching for malfunctions in industrial processes This volume is concerned with search strategies which are optimal in the sense that they minimize the risk or cost of a search where this may be measured in factors such as time or money Consequently the author discusses a range of mathematical techniques including non linear programming fractional programming dynamic programming the calculus of variation and the Pontryagin maximum principle from optimal control theory Many numerical examples are presented in order to illustrate the effectiveness of particular techniques As a result this book will provide all researchers in search theory with an up to date account of this important area of operations research
