Taro And The Sea Turtles:

Taro and the Sea Turtles Arnold Dobrin, 1966 Tells the story of Taro who tries to find a way to finish the statue of Buddha in his village but learns an important lesson instead The New Century First [--] Reader, 1899 The New Century Second Reader Hannah Avis Perdue, Florence E. La Victoire, 1899 Coastal Awareness : a Resource Guide for Teachers in Elementary Science Frederick A. Rasmussen, 1978 New Century Readers by Grades ..., 1899 Coastal Awareness Frederick A. Rasmussen, 1978 The Haliburton Third Reader Margaret Winifred Haliburton, 1913 Writing Okinawa Davinder L. Bhowmik, 2008-08-18 Writing Okinawa is the first comprehensive study in English of Okinawan fiction from its emergence in the early twentieth century through its most recent permutations. It provides readings of major authors and texts set against a carefully researched presentation of the region's political and social history at the same time it thoughtfully engages with current critical perspective with perspectives on subaltern identity, colonialism, and post colonialism and the nature of regional minority and minor literatures. Is Okinawan fiction replete with geographically specific themes such as language loss, identity, and war? A regional literature distinct among Japanese letters for flourishes of local color that offer a reprieve for the urban weary or a minority literature that serves as a site for creative resistance and cultural renewal? This question drives the book's argument, making it interpretative rather than merely descriptive. Not only does the book provide a critical introduction to the major works of Okinawan literature, it also argues that Okinawa's writers consciously exploit to good effect the overlap that exists between regional and minority literature. In so doing, they produce a rich body of work, a great deal of which challenges the notion of a unified nation that seamlessly rises from a single language and culture.

Drama and Education Manon van de Water, Mary McAvoy, Kristin Hunt, 2015-02-20 Drama and Education provides a practical, comprehensive guide to drama as a tool for teaching and learning. It is among the first practical drama and performance textbooks that address brain-based neuroscientific research, making the argument that creativity is necessary in our lives, that embodied learning is natural and essential, and that contextual learning helps us find our place in society in relationship to other peoples and cultures. As well as a historical and theoretical overview of the field, it provides rationale and techniques for several specific methodologies: linear drama, process-oriented drama, drama for social justice, and performance art. Each approach is supplemented with sample lesson plans, activities, ideas for differentiation, and extensive bibliographies. The topics are discussed from five key angles: Historical and theoretical foundations, Curricular applications, Practical toolkits for a range of classrooms and learning environments, Different strategies for lesson plans, Extension options for longer workshops. Alongside these core methods, the integration of other innovative forms from performance art to Theatre of the Oppressed into drama-based learning is explored, as well as the pragmatic concerns such as assessment, planning, and advocacy for arts learning and arts education partnerships. Drama and Education is the comprehensive textbook for teachers and students on Applied Theatre and Theatre and Education courses.
