Tasks And Communicating In Language Classrooms:

Tasks and Communicating in Language Classrooms James F. Lee, 2000 Tasks and Communicating in Language Classrooms is a significant new work in the area of classroom communication This text takes a principled approach to how one can take the basic question and answer paradigm found in many if not most language textbooks and reformulate it into interactive tasks that place communication in the hands of the student learners This text is practical in terms of task development and task based test design and development and simultaneously well grounded in theory and research Continuing in the tradition of bringing theory research and practice together into one volume Lee s work is a welcome addition to the McGraw Hill Second Language Professional Series Task-based Language Learning and Teaching Rod Ellis, 2003-04-03 This book explores the relationship between research teaching and tasks and seeks to clarify the issues raised by recent work in this field The book shows how research and task based teaching can mutually inform each other and illuminate the areas of task based course design methodology and assessment The author brings an accessible style and broad scope to an area of contemporary importance to both SLA and language pedagogy Tasks in Second Language Learning Virginia Samuda, Martin Bygate, 2007-11-27 Tasks in Second Language Learning aims to re centre discussion of the ways in which language learning tasks can help offer a holistic approach to language learning and to explore the research implications It relates the broad educational and social science rationale for the use of tasks to the principles and practices of their classroom use The authors provide a balanced review of research as a basis for exploring a broader research agenda Throughout the book offers telling illustration of the contributions of a range of specialists in research teaching methodology and materials development and of the authors own argument Task-Based Language Learning Peter Robinson, 2011-06-13 This volume contains papers addressing issues in task based research into second language learning which are essential to informed pedagogic decision making about how best to achieve this aim These issues include research into the design characteristics of pedagogic tasks that promote the accuracy fluency and complexity of learner language the role of individual differences in the motivational and other cognitive variables that demands made by pedagogic tasks draw on the extent to which tasks and teacher interventions during task performance promote the quantity and quality of interaction that facilitate L2 learning and the generalizability of task based research in laboratory contexts to classroom settings

Investigating Tasks in Formal Language Learning Mar?a Del Pilar Garc?a Mayo, 2007 This book brings together research that makes use of tasks to examine oral interaction written production vocabulary and reading lexical innovation and pragmatics in different formal language learning contexts and in different languages English French German Italian and Spanish It will be of interest to professionals and students working in SLA research and language pedagogy

Metacognitive Listening Instruction in the Second Language Classroom Naheen Madarbakus-Ring, 2025-09-30 This book addresses the gap between listening theory and practice by providing an outline of listening theory offering practical listening methods and presenting how metacognitive instruction can be integrated into real lesson practice Applying these methods to teaching and learning can provide educators with the instructional guidance needed to offer their learners some tangibility in second language L2 listening Based on original research the book includes descriptions and accounts of teachers listening classroom practices to explain their teaching priorities and their teaching decisions Further samples of listening lessons and learners accounts of their listening experience provide additional insights into learning from listening This book emphasizes the challenges that both teachers and learners face in the listening classroom and suggests metacognitive instruction as a remedy for these listening difficulties It also outlines a four stage pedagogic cycle including listening tasks and an additional journal component that integrates traditional teaching approaches and contemporary metacognitive methods This book is a useful resource for academics scholars educators and curriculum designers in the field of applied linguistics L2 language learning and foreign language education Task-Based Language Teaching in

Second Language Task Complexity Peter Robinson, 2011-09-13 Understanding how task complexity affects second language learning interaction and spoken and written performance is essential to informed decisions about task design and sequencing in TBLT programs The chapters in this volume all examine evidence for claims of the Cognition Hypothesis that complex tasks should promote greater accuracy and complexity of speech and writing as well as more interaction and learning of information provided in the input to task performance than simpler tasks Implications are drawn concerning the basic pedagogic claim of the Cognition Hypothesis that tasks should be sequenced for learners from simple to complex during syllabus design Containing theoretical discussion of the Cognition Hypothesis and cutting edge empirical studies of the effects of task complexity on second language learning and performance this book will be important reading for language teachers graduate students and researchers in applied linguistics second language acquisition and cognitive and educational psychology

Stance-Taking in Embodied and Virtual Interaction Geert Brône, Kurt Feyaerts, Elisabeth Zima, Silva H. Ladewig, 2025-08-28 A fundamental property of human language is its ability to simultaneously represent subjects objects or events and express the speaker's stance towards these representations The notion of stance taking involves a positioning along three different axes epistemic the distribution of knowledge e.g. by expressing certainty or uncertainty affective the expression of attitudes and feelings and deontic the expression of desirability or necessity of an action Psycho linguistics and neighboring fields have a long track record in the study of stance taking as a socially contextualized and recognized interpersonal phenomenon focusing on the lexical and grammatical resources that language users have at their disposal to communicate stance but also on the cognitive processes underlying this positioning In addition the phenomenon has been studied extensively in different communicative settings from spontaneous face to face communication to institutional and mediated forms of interaction from different disciplinary angles Interactional Linguistics Ethnomethodology Cognitive Psychology HCI Research etc and using different empirical methods from controlled experiments to qualitative and
