Joyce, Multilingualism, and the Ethics of Reading Borianna Alexandrova, 2020-09-16 What if our notions of the nation as a site of belonging the home as a safe place or the mother tongue as a means to fluent comprehension did not apply What if fluency were a hindrance whilst our differences and contradictions held the keys to radical new ways of knowing Taking inspiration from the practice of language learning and translation this book explores the extraordinary creative possibilities politics and ethics of adopting a multilingual approach to reading Its case study James Joyce s Finnegans Wake 1939 is a text in equal measures exhilarating and exasperating an unhinged portrait of European modernist debates on transculturalism and globalisation here considered on the backdrop of current discourses on migration race gender and neurodiversity This book offers a fresh perspective on the illuminating if perplexing work of a beloved European modernist whilst posing questions far beyond Joyce on negotiating difference in an increasingly globalised world on braving the difficulty of relating across languages and cultures and ultimately on imagining possible futures where multilingual literature can empower us to read relate and conceptualise differently

Lives in Transition Slobodan Randjelovic,2018-10-30 Part of the ongoing series of photobooks published with the Arcus Foundation and Emerson Wajdowicz Studios on queer communities around the world a stunning portrait of a community battling homophobia in Serbia In June 2001 Serbia witnessed its first gay pride parade in history in Belgrade s central square It was a short lived march as an ultranationalist mob quickly descended on the participants chanting homophobic slurs and injuring dozens For years afterward fear of violence prevented further marches and when in October 2010 the next pride march finally went ahead it again devolved into violence as anti gay rioters firing shots and hurling petrol bombs fought the police It was only in 2014 that a pride march was held uninterrupted albeit under heavy police protection In Lives in Transition photographer Slobodan Randjelovic captures the struggles and successes of twenty LGBTQ people living throughout Serbia a conservative religious country where despite semi progressive LGBTQ protection laws homophobia fueled by religious authorities and right wing political parties remains deeply entrenched In a country where lack of employment opportunity and hostile families frequently drive queer people into poverty and isolation these individuals have struggled to build a community that will offer solace protection and even joy Lives in Transition portrays remarkable and inspiring resilience in the human struggle against a repressive social environment and demonstrates how friendship and community can help people shape their own futures Lives in Transition was designed by Emerson Wajdowicz Studios EWS
