The Book Tree Elizabeth McCallum, Jane Scott, 2008 Literary habits naturally give way to literary affections Once upon a time a carpenter entered a forest and happened upon a wolf wearing a feathered cap Quick whose side are you on If you don't know we suggest reading a hearty round of fairytales Stories provide a roadmap for life This is because stories are life But oftentimes it's easiest to understand where we are when we can look through other eyes from the perspective of someone else living somewhere else somewhen else For those beginning to read for the first time or those beginning to read again The Book Tree will drop golden apples in your lap until you can climb high enough to pick for yourself Back to Books Karen

France Mary McAlpin, 2016-04-15 In her study of eighteenth century literature and medical treatises Mary McAlpin takes up the widespread belief among cultural philosophers of the French Enlightenment that society was gravely endangered by the effects of hyper civilization McAlpin's study explores a strong thread in this rhetoric of decline the belief that premature puberty in young urban girls supposedly brought on by their exposure to lascivious images titillating novels and lewd conversations was the source of an increasing moral and physical degeneration In how to hygiene books intended for parents the medical community declared that the only cure for this obviously involuntary departure from the natural path of sexual development was the increased surveillance of young girls As these treatises by vitalist and vitalist inspired physiologists became increasingly common in the 1760s McAlpin shows so too did the presence of young vulnerable and virginal heroines in the era's novels Analyzing novels by among others Jean Jacques Rousseau Denis Diderot and Choderlos de Laclos she offers physiologically based readings of many of the period's most famous heroines within the context of an eighteenth century discourse on women and heterosexual desire that broke with earlier periods in recasting female and male desire as qualitatively distinct Her study persuasively argues that the Western view of women's sexuality as a mysterious nebulous force Freud's dark continent has its secular origins in the mid eighteenth century Triumphant Reflections of the Mind
Jeanne M. Brohl, 2014-11-20 Triumphant Reflections of the Mind Poems Essays To be or not to be That is the question

Shakespeare had posed this question which led me to this exploration of existence vs non existence One way to look at existence is by persistence after being recognized as a non existent human being Persistence is used as a vehicle through which one is transported to a reality that they feel is true Existence involves the recognized five senses i e feeling touching seeing viewing tasting and hearing When acknowledging these five senses one is able to function as a evolutionary human being leaning toward an international understanding of the benefits mankind received through God our Father However one can be self actualizing by using the senses available to one by the moment he needs the senses If for some reason all five senses are not available then compensation is brought to the forefront by making the other senses more intense thereby allowing for the maximization of a unified body functioning at its fullest Constantly reviewing applying and directing self to maximize each sense in accordance with his conscience leads to the betterment of society This betterment can be seen as either good or excellent Mediocrity has no place to focus on the purest of quests At this present writing it is felt that there are many loopholes in the systems developing a quasi or even a false sense of well being is it is the thought process of the brain and its motivation to excel or fail that might allow for a leaning of the masses to entice honest and demonstrative leadership Leadership that is existing to allow its citizens the fullest benefit for societal gain could occur if the masses are led by ethical persuasive and pure reasons For decisions made by a person in power to allow the consideration of an architectural mind building a peaceful environment in the land to which he rules either by a Republic or not Is one dilemma in mankind s pursuit of peace PAX Praise God for our diversity and welcoming new ideas Jeanne Brohl Childrens' Catalog H.W.
