The Economics of the Nigerian Civil War and Its Prospects for National Development Nwabeze Reuben Ogbudinkpa, 1985

The Economics of the Nigerian Civil War and Its Prospects for National Development Reuben Ogbudinkpa, 2002

This study elaborates the wealth of indigenous technological innovation expedited by the Biafran war. It outlines the gains from the destruction, the Biafrans' contribution to technological advance and the impact of these advances on the Biafrans themselves. It describes the so-called mechanical military innovations which include British gun cotton, the Biafran bush refinery and some civilian welfare orientated innovations. The final chapter examines the Federal Government's attitude to indigenous technology which this author argues is broadly one of non-acceptance and rooted in the pre-independence colonial programming of Great Britain in Nigeria.

Biafra Roy Doron, 2025-09-01

The Nigerian Civil War 1967-1970 also known as the Biafran War remains one of the most politically charged and divisive issues in contemporary Nigerian politics. During its three years of violence, the war resulted in an astonishing number of deaths. This included civilians who suffered starvation due to the siege which ultimately ended with no victors. Biafra discusses the major political, military and diplomatic factors that came to play in the war as well as the matters of genocide, humanitarian relief and the memory of Biafra. Author Roy Doron delineates the war's operational history from its origins to its military engagements, failures in leadership, international reactions and its resolution and legacy. Biafra also examines how the country was affected after the war when Nigeria's military government imposed a no victors, no vanquished policy in order to minimize further conflict and promote national unity. Providing the first comprehensive narrative history of the Nigerian Civil War in more than 50 years, Biafra offers a new basis for scholars and readers to understand one of postcolonial Africa's most devastating and consequential conflicts.

The Nigerian Civil War 1967-1970 also known as the Biafran War has been described as a forgotten war. Yet it led to the birth of the NGO Doctors Without Borders, Médecins sans frontières and equipped journalists with the intercultural skills they later used in their coverage of other African conflicts. The Biafran conflict equally ended up strengthening the special relationship between France and Nigeria. From 1970 in particular, the Nigerian education sector was taken up with a wave of francophilia which boosted the teaching of French in
