The Insatiability of Human Wants Regenia Gagnier, 2000-12 What is the relationship between our conception of humans as producers or creators as consumers of taste and pleasure and as creators of value Combining cultural history economics and literary criticism Regenia Gagnier's new work traces the parallel development of economic and aesthetic theory offering a shrewd reading of humans as workers and wanters born of labor and desire The Insatiability of Human Wants begins during a key transitional moment in aesthetic and economic theory 1871 when both disciplines underwent a turn from production to consumption models In economics an emphasis on the theory of value and the social relations between land labor and capital gave way to more individualistic models of consumerism Similarly in aesthetics theories of artistic production or creativity soon bowed to models of taste pleasure and reception Using these developments as a point of departure Gagnier deftly traces the shift in Western thought from models of production to consumption From its exploration of early market logic and Kantian thought to its look at the aestheticization of homelessness and our own market boom The Insatiability of Human Wants invites us to contemplate alternative interpretations of economics aesthetics and history itself Edith Stein's Life in a Jewish Family, 1891-1916 Joyce Avrech Berkman,2023-04-04 Edith Stein's Life in a Jewish Family 1891 1916 is a treasure trove for the study of Stein's youth and early adulthood her approach to writing autobiographically and her intricate relationship with historical influences of her time and place Through intellectual mining Stein's narrative and conducting a comprehensive historical analysis of Stein's achievement as a distinct type of autobiography Joyce Avrech Berkman argues that a key axis of Stein's consciousness values philosophical ideas and life choices is a deep tense unresolved philosophical and spiritual struggle to both uphold traditional societal and cultural values and practices and also critiquing them to pioneer new patterns of thought Berkman further probes the sharply controversial nature of Stein's autobiography for her family members and Stein scholars in the decades after her death Edith Stein's Life in a Jewish Family 1891 1916 A Companion serves as an important guide to scholars in autobiographical studies history philosophy and theology as well as to a broader readership interested in Stein's life for religious and cultural reasons
