The Man To Send Rain Clouds:

The Man to Send Rain Clouds Kenneth Rosen, 1992-12-01 Fourteen stories about the strength and passion of today's American Indian including six from the acclaimed Leslie Marmon Silko Anthropologists have long delighted us with the wise and colorful folktales they transcribed from their Indian informants The stories in this collection are another matter altogether these are white educated Indians attempting to bear witness through a non Indian genre the short story Over a two year period Kenneth Rosen traveled from town to town pueblo to pueblo to uncover the stories contained in this volume All reveal to varying degrees and in various ways the preoccupations of contemporary American Indians Not surprisingly many of the stories are infused with the bitterness of a people and a culture long repressed Several deal with violence and the effort to escape from the pervasive and so often destructive white influence and system In most the enduring strength of the Indian past is very much in evidence evoked as a kind of counterpoint to the repression and aimlessness that have marked and still mark today the lives of so many American Indians A Study Guide for Leslie Marmon Silko's "Man to Send Rainclouds" Gale, Cengage Learning, Companion to Literature Abby H. P. Werlock, 2009 Praise for the previous edition Booklist RBB Twenty Best Bets for Student Researchers RUSA ALA Outstanding Reference Source useful Recommended for public libraries and undergraduates A Writer's Workbook Trudy Smoke, 2005-01-10 A Writer's Workbook Fourth edition is a comprehensive academic writing skills book for advanced level students that includes authentic readings and a study of grammar A Writer's Workbook takes advanced level writing students systematically from reading to writing Along the way students read high interest texts study the structure of academic essays grapple with troublesome areas of grammar and writing mechanics read and analyze student model essays and write revise and edit The Romance of Authenticity Jeff Karem, 2004 To what extent has the demand for a vicarious experience of other cultures fuelled the expectation that the most important task for writers is to capture and convey authentic cultural material This text argues that authenticity is in fact a restrictive category of literary judgment Leslie Marmon Silko Louise K. Barnett, James L. Thorson, 1999 An exciting collection of new essays on the work of the outstanding American Indian woman writer

Picturing a Different West Janis P. Stout, 2007 Picturing a Different West addresses Willa Cather and Mary Austin as central figures in a women's tradition of the pictured West Both Cather and Austin moved west in their youth and spent much of their lives there Cather lived on the Great Plains while Austin resided in California and the Southwest Cather's travels repeatedly took her to the Southwest and she wrote three novels with Southwestern settings Starting with the masculine tradition of Western art that was prevalent when Austin and Cather launched their careers Janis P Stout shows how the authors challenged and revised that tradition Rather than a West of adventure violence and conquest open only to rugged and daring men the authors envisioned a new West not conventionally feminine so much as an androgynous space of freedom for women and men alike Their vision of an alternative West and their alternative ways of thinking about and portraying gender are inseparable Placing Cather and Austin alongside contemporaries Elsie Clews Parsons Mabel Dodge Luhan Georgia O Keeffe and Laura Gilpin Stout emphasizes the visual nature of Austin's and Cather's personal experiences of the West and Southwest their awareness of the prevailing visual representations of the West and the visual nature of their books about the West with respect to both prose style and illustrations In closing Stout demonstrates the continuance of their tradition in illustrated western books by Leslie Marmon Silko and by Margaret Randall and Barbara Byers

Yellow Woman Leslie Marmon Silko, 1993 Ambiguous and unsettling Silko's Yellow Woman explores one woman's desires and changes her need to open herself to a richer sensuality Walking away from her everyday identity as daughter wife and mother she takes possession of transgressive feelings and desires by recognizing them in the stories she has heard by blurring the boundaries between herself and the Yellow Woman of myth

Hearing the Call Across Traditions Adam Davis, 2009 Explore the connections between faith service and social justice through the prose verse and sacred texts of the world's great faith traditions Christianity Judaism Islam Buddhism Hinduism Taoism and more Drawing from diverse literary genres religious and philosophical perspectives and historical periods these short and provocative readings cut to the heart of the many obstacles and joys that accompany lives devoted to faith and service This rich collection will create a platform for discussing and understanding the faith based service of others as well as inspire you to reflect on the meaning behind your own commitment to improving the world Book jacket
