The Enemies Of Leadership Lessons For Leaders In Education:

The Enemies of Leadership Ernest Grady Bogue,1985 How Women Executives Succeed Danity Little,1994-06-20

The significance of this study on women executives is twofold one the book is about women in the public sector and two it is written by a woman in the executive service of the government itself The treatise is a well documented study of seventy eight women executives who advanced into the upper reaches of the government executive service The work analyzes the significant experiences individuals developmental stages and barriers that these women encountered It provides constructive information for women employees women managers and managers of women and minorities The introductory chapters review learning theories and models literature and data collected The book then proceeds to its main theme the experiences and lessons of SES women Various supervisory experiences in task forces projects and turning around an organization are analyzed Role models bosses and mentors and their impact is detailed Successful handling of an executive job balancing life and work and dealing with invisible barriers are also addressed The book concludes with 100 Steps to the Top The original survey questionnaire key charts and graphs are included This book will be beneficial to human resource professionals and for inclusion in courses in human resource management women s studies and a worthwhile addition to college and university collections

Stop Wasting Your Time and Start Doing What Matters Most Jeffrey Krug,Ivonne Alexander,Ivonne Delaflor,2012-09 People who believe that they have no time and who lack the awareness of values time management and goal setting tend to be followers They procrastinate they usually don t care to contribute to the higher good and they live in a comfort zone with no vision or plan for a better future They live their lives in a blurry world where opportunities are missed and the promise of success is blocked In Stop Wasting Your Time if you are willing to start doing what matters most and if you want to leave a legacy of power synergy and higher values to the children of humanity then this is the book for you This is your wake up call for true leadership The way you determine your values and organize your priorities determines everything you achieve as a leader and this book gives you a wonderful blueprint to do just that Brian Tracy author of How the Best Leaders Lead

Schmieder,Donald Cairns,1996-03-28 In sixteen case histories based on principals real experiences you will be confronted with a series of harsh but realistic challenges to your administrative skills professional and personal values and courage These case histories and related texts will help you identify understand and internalize major skills that are essential in your work

The Principal's Role in Shaping School Culture Terrence E. Deal,Kent D. Peterson,1991 Exploring School Leadership in England and the Caribbean Paul Miller,2016-01-28 What drives school leaders What do they do on a day to day basis What helps or constrains their decision making What keeps them focused amidst challenges Rather than applying theory to practice Exploring School Leadership in England and the Caribbean draws on how school leaders practice and experience their own leadership Paul Miller draws on case studies from Jamaica and England to explore what it means to be a school leader and explores a wide range of issues including accountability performativity inclusion and multiculturalism technology staffing and resourcing decisions While no two school leaders will have identical experiences as a school leader Paul Miller draws on the first hand accounts of school leaders to show that regardless of school size type and location there are a number of common experiences and themes Miller acknowledges that the practice of school leadership is occurring in an uncertain economic environment buoyed by a fast paced policy context where by targets linked to national economic development are the new normal He concludes that school leadership is a continuous balancing act driven by and experienced through an Economic motor model of schooling which he proposes
