Faith in Life

Styles of Faith- John Westerhoff

According to John Westerhoff, the four main styles of faith development are:

1. Experienced Faith (preschool & early childhood) Children at this stage basically imitate actions without understanding the meaning.
2. Affiliative Faith (childhood & early adolescent) During this stage, we associate with a group. We believe and act as the church dictates
3. Searching Faith (late adolescence) In this questioning stage, individuals discern on their understanding of faith as opposed to just accepting the group or church norms. This stage can attract and maintain the adolescent or turns the adolescent elsewhere for faith responses.
4. Owned Faith (early adulthood) This stage involves searching, exploring and finally committing. It involves realizing our beliefs, learning to live by them and actively witnessing what we believe.
