Good Nights Out Aleks Sierz, 2019-12-12 London's West End is a global success story staging phenomenal hit shows that have delighted millions of spectators and generated billions of pounds in revenue. In Good Nights Out Aleks Sierz provides a thematic survey of such popular theatre shows that were enormous commercial successes over the past 75 years. He argues that these outstanding hits have a lot to say about the collective cultural social and political attitudes and aspirations of the country and about how our national identity and theatre's role in creating it has evolved over the decades. The book spans a range of work from almost forgotten plays such as R F Delderfield's Worm's Eye View and Hugh Hastings's Seagulls Over Sorrento to well known mega hits such as The Mousetrap and The Phantom of the Opera. Such popular work has tended to be undervalued by some critics and commentators mainly because it has not been thought to be a suitable subject for inclusion in the canon of English Literature. By contrast Sierz demonstrates that genres such as the British musical light comedy sex farce or murder mystery are worth appreciating not only for their intrinsic theatrical qualities but also as examples of the dream life of the British people. The book challenges the idea that mega hits are merely escapist entertainments and instead shows how they contribute to the creation of powerful myths about our national life. The analysis of such shows also points towards the possibility of creating an alternative history of postwar British theatre.

Black History - White History Barbara Korte, Eva Ulrike Pirker, 2014-03-15 Britain's recent historical culture is marked by a shift. As a consequence of new political directives black history began to be mainstreamed into the realm of national history from the late 1990s onwards. Black History White History assesses a number of manifestations of this new cultural historiography on screen and on stage in museums and other accessible sites emerging in the context of two commemorative events the Windrush anniversary and the 1807 abolition bicentenary. It inquires into the terms on which the new historical programme could take hold its sustainability and its representational politics.

We'll Have Manhattan Dominic Symonds, 2015-01-28 Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart are one of the defining duos of musical theater contributing dozens of classic songs to the Great American Songbook and working together on over 40 shows before Hart's death. With hit after hit on both Broadway and the West End they produced many of the celebrated songs of the 20s and 30s such as Manhattan, The Lady is a Tramp and Bewitched that remain popular favorites with great cultural resonance today. Yet the early years of these iconic collaborators have remained largely unexamined. We'll Have Manhattan: The Early Work of Rodgers and Hart provides unprecedented insight into the first formative period of Rodgers and Hart's collaboration. Author Dominic Symonds examines the pair and their work from their first meeting in 1919 to their brief flirtation with Hollywood in the early 1930s as they left the theater to explore sound film. During this time their output was prodigious, progressive and experimental. They developed their characteristic style and a new approach to musical theater writing that provided the groundwork for the development of the Broadway musical. Symonds also analyzes the theme of identity that runs throughout Rodgers and Hart's work, how the business side of the theater affected their artistic output and their continued experimentation with a song's dramatic role within a narrative. We'll Have Manhattan goes beyond a biographical or historical look at Rodgers and Hart's early years; it's also an accessible but authoritative study of their material. Symonds documents their early shows and provides deft critical and analytical commentary on their evolving practice and its influence on the subsequent development of the American musical. Fans of musical theater and devotees of Rodgers and Hart will find this definitive exploration of their early works to be an essential addition to their Broadway library.

Charlotte Greenwood Grant Hayter-Menzies, 2007-05-02 Charlotte Greenwood never intended to become a comedienne but she was unfashionably tall at 5'10" and her early aspirations to become a great dramatic actress eventually led her to the field of comedy. Greenwood, whose early life had taught her nothing if not how to be optimistic, stifled her disappointment and used her considerable skill to become one of the greatest comedic actresses of the early twentieth century. Based on Greenwood's unpublished memoirs, this biography presents a personal, detailed look at her colorful life. Beginning with her early years in Philadelphia, Boston, and Norfolk, it relates her struggles with ill health, her social difficulties caused by her then unusual height, and her realization of her ambition to become an actress. The main focus of the work is her career, which spanned more than 50 years and ranged from vaudeville to the dramatic stage and finally to films during the World War II years. She starred in Twentieth Century Fox musicals with Cesar Romero, Betty Grable, Edward Everett Horton, Jack Haley, Don Ameche, and Carmen Miranda. Her roles in a variety of works, including The Passing Show of 1912, So Long, Letty (both stage and film), and I Remember Mama are also discussed. Special emphasis is placed on her career-defining and best-known role as Aunt Eller Murphy in the 1955 film adaptation of Oklahoma. Charlotte Greenwood's performance history, a list of her known recordings, and a filmography for her husband Martin Brookes are also included, along with a collection of rare photographs and memorabilia.
