A Literary History of the American West Western Literature Association (U.S.), 1987 Literary histories of course do not have a reason for being unless there exists the literature itself This volume perhaps more than others of its kind is an expression of appreciation for the talented and dedicated literary artists who ignored the odds avoided temptations to write for popularity or prestige and chose to write honestly about the American West believing that experiences long knowns to be of historical importance are also experiences that need and deserve a literature of importance

Beyond the Borders Deborah L. Madsen, 2003-08-20 This book challenges the boundaries of postcolonial theory Focusing on American literature it examines how America's own imperial history has shaped the literature that has emerged from America from Native American Latino Black and Asian American writers They contrast this with postcolonial literature from countries whose history has been shaped by American colonialism from Canada Central America and the Caribbean to Hawaii Indonesia and Vietnam It explores questions about national identity and multiculturalism why for instance is a Native writer categorised within

American literature if writing on one side of the border but as Canadian and postcolonial if writing on the other This is a challenging collection that raises questions not only about the boundaries of postcolonial theory but also about ethnicity and multiculturalism and the impact of immigration and assimilation The Best Novels of the Nineties Linda Parent supports the social studies curriculum by helping students learn about the Asian American historical and cultural experience

The Sino-Japanese War and Youth Literature Minjie Chen, 2016-01-22 The Sino Japanese War 1937 1945 was fought in the Asia Pacific theatre between Imperial Japan and China with the United States as the latter's major military ally. An important line of investigation remains questioning how the history of this war has been passed on to post-war generations, consciousness and how information sources, particularly those exposed to young people in their formative years, shape their knowledge and bias of the conflict as well as World War II more generally. This book is the first to focus on how the Sino Japanese War has been represented in non-English and English sources for children and young adults. As a cross-cultural study and an interdisciplinary endeavour, it not only examines youth-oriented publications in China and the United States but also draws upon popular culture, novelists' memoirs and family oral narratives to make comparisons between fiction and history. Chinese and American sources and published materials and private memories of the war. Through quantitative narrative analysis, literary and visual analysis and socio-political critique, it shows the dominant pattern of war stories, traces chronological changes over the seven decades from 1937 to 2007 and teases out the ways in which the history of the Sino Japanese War has been constructed, censored and utilized to serve shifting agendas. Providing a much-needed examination of public memory, literary representation and popular imagination of the Sino Japanese War, this book will have huge interdisciplinary appeal, particularly for students and scholars of Asian history, literature, society and education.
