Animals in Keri Hulme's "The Windeater/Te Kaihau" Ann-Catherine Nabholz, 1995 Spiritcarvers Antonella Sarti, 2022-06-08 In a land caught between the sea and cloud where the natural landscape still refuses civilization, there are those the composers of words, tellers of tales that help shape the minds of the people that live on its shores. They are spiritcarvers. New Zealand writing today is engaging in an intent struggle to subvert multiple shapes into voices. These interviews as a record of biographical orature are shaped into presenting the figure of the storyteller through memory and language explorations of how we imagine and create ourselves with and into words. Here we encounter the dichotomy of fiction and non-fiction, myth and consensual reality, imagination and truth: do we live within our own selected fictions? Identity is shaped by the author's sense of displacement as well as of belonging, meeting otherness with dispossession, discovering connection through isolation. Among the focal points of the interviews are the role of women's writing, Maori writing, interrelations among different cultures and the influence of literary and oral tradition within New Zealand. Crabtracks, 2021-12-28 The essays in this collection celebrate the signal achievement of Dieter Riemenschneider in helping found and consolidate the study of postcolonial anglophone literatures in Germany and Europe. As well as poems, a short story, drawings of the Indian scene, the first and abiding focus of this scholar's work and letters of reminiscence, one quite grave, there are revealing contributions of a literary historical nature on the establishment of anglophone, especially African, literatures as an academic discipline within Germany, the UK and Northern Europe, generally, as well as a group of searching reflections on such topics of postcolonial import as globalization and the applicability of models to the literature of the indigene in Canada and Australia. The largest section is devoted to individual topics, each treatment implicitly keyed to approaches to the teaching of New Literatures texts. Writers covered include Anita Desai, landscape and memory, Salman Rushdie, painting in 'The Moor's Last Sigh', Charlotte Brontë, imperial discourse in 'Jane Eyre', Derek Walcott, Omeros and cultural cohabitation and Witi Ihimaera, his rewriting of Katherine Mansfield. Topics dealt with include music and radio in West Africa, the African literary hit parade, the New Zealand prose poem, Canadian and Australian war fiction, the Middle Passage in the American and Caribbean novel, Paul Theroux's uneasy relations with V.S. Naipaul and the colonial discourse of illness and recuperation. The volume closes with Dieter Riemenschneider's very first and most recent critical essays the one a classic on Mulk Raj Anand the other a challenging and doubtless controversial thesis on postcolonial minority writing A select bibliography of Riemenschneider's work books edited publications journal articles and book contributions reviews and broadcasts rounds off this substantial collection Postcoloniality, Globalization, and Diaspora Ashmita Khasnabish, 2019-12-03
