Handbook of Research on Special Education Teacher Preparation Paul T. Sindelar, Erica D. McCray, Mary T. Brownell, Benjamin Lignugaris/Kraft, 2014-03-05 Compilations of research on teacher preparation often include no more than a cursory mention of the specific roles and needs of special education teachers Although the work that special education teachers perform does indeed differ from the work of classroom teachers teacher preparation in the two fields has much in common The purpose of this seven part handbook is to expand our knowledge of teacher education broadly by providing an in depth look at the most up to date research on special education teacher preparation Opening chapters ground the collection in political and economic context while subsequent sections delve deeply into issues related to the current state of our special education workforce and offer insights into how to best prepare and sustain that workforce Ultimately by illuminating the particularities of special education teacher preparation this landmark handbook addresses the state of current research in the field and sets an agenda for future scholarship Preparing for Inclusive Teaching Elizabeth Bondy, Dorene D. Ross, 2012-02-01 Grounded in the reform effort of a large state university with a history of excellence in teacher education this book provides teacher educators and institutions with a valuable resource for navigating the choppy waters of reform Contributors all involved in the reform process tell the story of the University of Florida s efforts in the mid 1990s to unify general and special education in its teacher education program The book examines various aspects of the reform process explains challenges faced by teacher educators within today s context and particularly within the context of large research institutions presents strategies leaders use to keep reform on track in spite of challenges and includes detailed descriptions of the nature and structure of the reformed program Also included are valuable insights of teacher education experts from other institutions to contextualize the particulars of this reform within the national education and teacher education scenes Tests and Teaching Quality National Research Council, Board on Testing and Assessment, Committee on Assessment and Teacher Quality, 2000-05-14 Improving the quality of teaching in elementary and secondary schools is now high on the nation's educational policy agenda. Policy makers at the state and federal levels have focused on initiatives designed to improve the abilities of teachers already in schools and increase the numbers of well qualified teachers available to fill current and future vacancies. Tests and Teaching Quality is an interim report of a study investigating the technical, educational, and legal issues surrounding the use of tests for licensing teachers. This report focuses on existing tests and their use.

Grading the Nation's Report Card National Research Council, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Testing and Assessment, Committee on the Evaluation of National and State Assessments of Educational Progress, 2000-03-23. The National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), known as the nation's report card, has chronicled students' academic achievement in America for over a quarter of a century. It has been a valued source of information about students' performance, providing the best available trend data on the academic achievement of elementary, middle, and secondary school students in key subject areas. NAEP's prominence and the important need for stable and accurate measures of academic achievement call for evaluation of the program and an analysis of the extent to which its results are reasonable, valid, and informative to the public. This volume of papers considers the use and application of NAEP. It provides technical background to the recently published book Grading the Nation's Report Card: Evaluating NAEP and Transforming the Assessment of Educational Progress (NRC, 1999) with papers on four key topics: NAEP's assessment development, content validity, design, and use; and more broadly, the design of education indicator systems.
