Teacher Written Commentary in Second Language Writing Classrooms Lynn M. Goldstein, 2005 Although second language writing instructors know that providing effective written feedback is essential to any good composition course beginning and seasoned teachers alike struggle with this challenging task In Teacher Written Commentary in Second Language Writing Classrooms Lynn M Goldstein uses ample research and experiential evidence to explain both how and why teachers should comment on their students writing assignments Among the problems that Goldstein addresses are how to attend to the product without slighting the process how to intervene in process without appropriating product how to facilitate student comprehension and use of teacher feedback while promoting student independence and how to respond efficiently while remaining attentive to individual student needs While it may not necessarily reduce the time spent on commenting the book will enable teachers and teachers in training to provide written commentary that will help their students to become stronger and more independent writers in English This volume is the only source that contains such in depth consideration of the issues and the range of practices within teacher written commentary and the only resource that focuses solely on issues of rhetoric and content in multilingual writing students texts Teachers and teacher educators will appreciate the Goldstein s thorough and well grounded analysis Lynn M Goldstein is Professor TESOL and Applied Linguistics Monterey Institute of International Studies CA

TBLT as a Researched Pedagogy Virginia Samuda, Kris Van den Branden, Martin Bygate, 2018-10-15 Bringing together experienced classroom researchers and teacher educators from different countries where tasks are playing an influential role in language education this collected volume critically explores how TBLT research can engage with pedagogy and how TBLT pedagogy can engage with research A defining part of the TBLT project has always been a dual concern both with the nature and use of tasks in language teaching and with empirical research to guide and support classroom practitioners the two concerns suggesting a central and reciprocal relationship between research and pedagogy However this relationship has at times been unbalanced and its centrality has sometimes gone by default problems which this volume aims to address The introduction proposes criteria to improve the congruence between the research base of TBLT and the concerns and terms of reference of classroom practitioners Using a range of methodologies the individual chapters illustrate and explore different aspects of this theme The book will be of interest to all those wishing to further their understanding of
