Teachers and Research Gay Su Pinnell, Myna L. Matlin, 1989-01-01 Student Engagement in the Language Classroom Phil Hiver, Ali H. Al-Hoorie, Sarah Mercer, 2020-12-02 This book defines engagement for the field of language learning and contextualizes it within existing work on the psychology of language learning and teaching Chapters address broad substantive questions concerned with what engagement is or looks like and how it can be theorized for the language classroom methodological questions related to the design measurement and analysis of engagement in language classrooms and beyond as well as applied issues examining its antecedents factors inhibiting and enhancing it and conditions fostering the re engagement of language learners who have become disengaged Through a mix of conceptual and empirical chapters the book explores similarities and differences between motivation and engagement and addresses questions of whether how and why learners actually do exert effort allocate attention participate and become involved in tangible language learning and use It will serve as an authoritative benchmark for future theoretical and empirical research into engagement within the classroom and beyond and will be of interest to anyone wishing to understand the unique insights and contributions the topic of engagement can make to language learning and teaching Research in the Language Classroom Christopher Brumfit, Rosamond Mitchell, 1990 Intended for teachers this text provides a survey of how research can be utilized and how classroom practices can be examined Topics covered include the roles of systematic and unsystematic observation research into learner and teacher behaviour teaching theory and writing up research Language Teaching Research and Language Pedagogy Rod Ellis, 2012-03-20 This book examines current research centered on the second language classroom and the implications of this research for both the teaching and learning of foreign languages It offers illuminating insights into the important relationship between research and teaching and the inherent complexities of the teaching and learning of foreign languages in classroom settings Offers an accessible overview of a range of research on instruction and learning in the L2 classroom Bridges the relationship between research teachers and learners Helps evolve the practice of dedicated current language teachers with research findings that suggest best practices for language teaching

Tasks in Second Language Learning Virginia Samuda, Martin Bygate, 2007-11-27 Tasks in Second Language Learning aims to re centre discussion of the ways in which language learning tasks can help offer a holistic approach to language learning and to explore the research implications It relates the broad educational and social science rationale for the use of tasks to the principles and practices of their classroom use The authors provide a balanced review of research as a basis for exploring a broader research agenda Throughout the book offers telling illustration of the contributions of a range of specialists in research teaching methodology and materials development and of the authors own argument

Identity and Language Learning Bonny Norton, 2013-10-04 Identity and Language Learning draws on a longitudinal case study of immigrant women in Canada to develop new ideas about identity investment and imagined communities in the field of language learning and teaching Bonny Norton demonstrates that a poststructuralist conception of identity as multiple a site of struggle and subject to change across time and place is highly productive for understanding language learning Her sociological construct of investment is an important complement to psychological theories of motivation The implications for language teaching and teacher education are profound Now including a new comprehensive Introduction as well as an Afterword by Claire Kramsch this second edition addresses the following central questions Under what conditions do language learners speak listen read and write How are relations of power implicated in the negotiation of identity How can teachers address the investments and imagined identities of learners The book integrates research theory and classroom practice and is essential reading for students teachers and researchers in the fields of language learning and teaching TESOL applied linguistics and literacy This book is open access under a CC BY ND licence

Second and Foreign Language Learning Through Classroom Interaction Joan Kelly Hall, Lorrie Stoops Verplaetse, 2000-06-01 This volume brings together the current theoretical interest in reconceptualizing second and foreign language learning from a sociocultural perspective on language and learning with practical concerns about second and foreign language pedagogy It presents a set of studies whose focus is on the empirical description of particular practices constructed in classroom interaction that promote the learning of a second or foreign language The authors examine in detail the processes by which the learning of additional languages is accomplished in the interaction of a variety of classrooms and in a variety of languages Not only will the findings from the studies reported in this volume help to lay a foundation for the development of a more expansive sociocultural model of second and foreign language learning but on a more practical level they will help language educators in creating a set of principles for identifying and sustaining classroom interactional practices that foster additional language development The volume is distinguished in three ways Following a Vygotskian perspective on development the studies assume that language learning is a fundamentally pragmatic enterprise intrinsically linked to language use This breaks from a more traditional understanding of second and foreign language learning which has viewed learning and use as two distinct phenomena The importance of classroom interaction to additional language development is foregrounded The investigations reported in this book are distinguished by their methodological approach Because language learning is assumed to be a situated context sensitive and dynamic process the studies do not rely on traditional experimental methods for collecting and analyzing data but rather they involve primarily the use of ethnographic and discourse analytic methods The studies focus on interactional practices that promote second and foreign language learning Although a great deal of research has examined first language learning in classrooms from a sociocultural perspective little has looked at second and foreign language classrooms from such a perspective Thus there is a strong need for this volume of studies addressing this area of research Researchers teacher educators and graduate students across the fields of second and foreign language learning applied linguistics and language education will find this book informative and relevant Because of the programmatic implications arising from the studies it will also appeal to teacher educators and teachers of second and foreign languages from the elementary to the university levels

Focus on the Language Classroom Dick Allwright, Kathleen M. Bailey, 1991-04-25 The authors set out to define the aims principles and objectives of recent research into what exactly happens in the language classroom to describe the findings of this work and to relate these to teaching practice

Brave New Digital Classroom Robert J. Blake, Gabriel Guillén, 2020-02-20 Robert Blake now with Gabriel Guillén updates his successful book 1st ed 2008 2nd ed 2013 on how to teach foreign languages using technology Brave New Digital Classroom touches on all of the key concepts and challenges of teaching with technology focusing on issues specific to FLL or L2 learning and CALL Originally referred to as computer assisted language learning CALL has come to encompass any kind of learning that uses digital tools for language learning This edition reframes the conversation to account for how technology has been integrated into our lives Blake and Guillén address the ways technology can help with L2 how to choose the right digital tools how to use those tools effectively and how technology can impact literacy and identity The book is primed for use in graduate courses terminology is in bold and a comprehensive glossary is included each chapter finishes with a short list of references for further reading on the topic and discussion questions The authors provide short interview videos free via GUP website to enhance discussions on each chapter's topic
