The Making Of Iraq 1900 1963 Capital Power And Ideology:

The Making of Iraq, 1900-1963 Samira Haj, 1997-02-13 This book explores several major developmental problems as they manifested themselves in Iraq It also focuses on the formation of capital in modern Iraq and addresses four theoretical categories

Shi'i Sectarianism in the Middle East Elisheva Machlis, 2014-09-17 The eruption of violent sectarianism in Iraq following the US invasion in 2003 brought the question of Sunni Shi'i relations in the country to the forefront of the international public agenda It also strengthened the popular belief that contemporary Shi'ism is inherently sectarian Yet several decades earlier Ayatollah Khomeini had declared an Islamic revolution and downplayed its Shi'i origins and links So what is the true orientation of Shi'i Islam in the contemporary era and how did modernisation alter its sectarian affiliation This book contends that early Shi'i reformist thought set the foundations for a more universal oriented Shi'ism Prominent reformists in the first half of the twentieth century from the holy cities of Karbala and Najaf in Iraq and from the Shi'i centres in Southern Lebanon played a significant role in the renewal of Shi'ism and laid the groundwork for its reinvention in the modern era Exploring this shift towards a more ecumenical perception of Islam Elisheva Machlis here provides a fresh perspective on inter sectarian relations in contemporary Iraq and illuminates the intellectual roots of the Islamic revolution by examining networks of Shi'i scholars such as Mu'ammad usayn K shif al Ghi and Mu sin al Am n al mil operating within a more globalised Muslim world Drawing on the experiences of early Shi'i reformists such as Abd al usayn Sharaf al D n al M saw in Lebanon and Mu'ammad Jaw d Mughniyya in Damascus this book gives new insight on the future of inter Muslim relations at a time of growing inter sectarian contention from the Iran Iraq war to the post 2003 Sunni Shi'i conflict in Iraq and al Qa ida s anti Shi'i message taking into account questions of theology historiography jurisprudence and politics which all played a vital role in the transition to the contemporary era The author here analyses the broad scholarly connections between Iran Iraq and Lebanon in the twentieth century while debating paramount questions of leadership identity and group membership in the development of modern Shi'ism Examining the relationship between intellectual thought and socio political development in the region this book provides a new perspective concerning the future of an increasingly globalised Muslim world and will prove essential reading for students and specialists

An Analysis of Hanna Batatu's The Old Social Classes and the Revolutionary Movements of Iraq Dale J. Stahl, 2018-02-21 How do you solve a problem like understanding Iraq For Hanna Batatu the solution to this conundrum lay in generating alternative possibilities that effectively side stepped the conventional wisdom of the time Historians had long held that Iraq like other artificial creations of ex colonial European powers who drew lines onto the world map that ignored longstanding tribal ethnic and religious ties was best understood by delving into its political and religious history Batatu used the problem solving skills of asking productive questions and generating alternative possibilities to argue that Iraq's history was better understood through the lens of a Marxist analysis focused on socio economic history The Old Social Classes concludes that the divisions present in Iraq and exposed by the revolutionary movements of the 1950s are those characterized by the struggle for control over property and the means of production. Additionally, Batatu sought to establish that the most important political movements of the time, notably the nationalist Ba'athists and the pan-Arab Free Officers Movement, had their origins in a homegrown communist ideology inspired by local conditions and local inequality. By posing new questions and by undertaking a vast amount of research in primary sources, a rarity in the history of this region, Batatu was able to produce a strong new solution to a longstanding historiographical puzzle.

The Iraqi Revolution of 1958 Juan Romero, 2011. In the early hours of July 14, 1958, Iraqi military officers overthrew the British-installed Iraqi monarchy. The Free Officers' coup initiated an era of military and subsequently Ba'athist rule that only ended with the U.S.-led invasion of Iraq in 2003. Historians are at variance over the nature of what is called the Iraqi Revolution in the Arab world. Some scholars argue that the overthrow was merely a coup d'état orchestrated by the Free Officers' Movement. Other analysts contend that the overthrow constituted a real revolution. Very few works, if any, provide a detailed analysis in support of the revolutionary argument. Dr. Romero's book advances the argument that the events of July 14 simultaneously constituted a coup and a revolution for a number of reasons, including military involvement, popular participation, and policies that radically departed from those of the previous regime.

Nationalism and Liberal Thought in the Arab East Christoph Schumann, 2010-02-25. This book explores the complex relationship between nationalism and liberal thought in the Arab East during the first half of the twentieth century. Examining this formative period through reformist Islam, Arab secularism, and Arab literature, the book situates major shifts in the political ideologies and practices of Arab liberals within a historical context. Contributions from renowned scholars in the field show how, rather than fundamentally contradicting each other, these two schools of thought are closely linked. Many key demands of liberalism, most notably constitutionalism, the rule of law, individual rights, and popular participation, have been central to the nationalist agenda, while other issues have proven more controversial: inter-confessional tolerance, secularism, and the goals of state-sponsored education. Although a strong nation-state was pivotal to the nationalist imagination during most of the twentieth century, a powerful critique of unchecked state power took shape as Arab countries experienced a half-century of authoritarian government. In analyzing these issues, the chapters demonstrate how the rise and fall of liberalism across the region was not determined solely by religion or culture but by the ideas of influential intellectuals and politicians. Advancing our understanding of political ideology and practice in the Arab East, this volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of political science, history, and the Middle East.

Historical Dictionary of the Bedouins Muhammad Suwaed, 2015-10-30. The term Bedouins was given to nomads who came from or lived in the desert and consisted of a sedentary population from the badia desert. However, in time, it came to define their social-economic essence as people who raised grazing animals and were compelled to conduct a nomadic life: to live in tents that could be dismantled, carried, and re-erected easily and to move with their livelihood and living accommodation according to the environmental conditions; those which provided water and grass Not all Bedouin tribes are of Arabic origin as all Muslim nomadic groups in the area adopted the term Bedouins There are Bedouin tribes of Turkmen Kurdish Baluch and Berberic origin and there are Arabized African people and hybrid people who are categorized as Bedouins The Historical Dictionary of the Bedouins contains a chronology an introduction an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 300 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about the Bedouins

Violence and the City in the Modern Middle East

Nelida Fuccaro, 2016-03-09 This book explores violence in the public lives of modern Middle Eastern cities approaching violence as an individual and collective experience a historical event and an urban process Violence and the city coexist in a complicated dialogue and critical consideration of the city offers an important way to understand the transformative powers of violence its ability to redraw the boundaries of urban life to create and divide communities and to affect the ruling strategies of local elites governments and transnational political players The essays included in this volume reflect the diversity of Middle Eastern urbanism from the eighteenth to the late twentieth centuries from the capitals of Cairo Tunis and Baghdad to the provincial towns of Jeddah Nablus and Basra and the oil settlements of Dhahran and Abadan In reconstructing the violent pasts of cities new vistas on modern Middle Eastern history are opened offering alternative and complementary perspectives to the making and unmaking of empires nations and states Given the crucial importance of urban centers in shaping the Middle East in the modern era and the ongoing potential of public histories to foster dialogue and reconciliation this volume is both critical and timely
