The Malvern Hills An Archaeological Landscape:

The Malvern Hills Mark Bowden, 2013-04-15 Examines the landscape of the Malvern Hills a ridge of ancient volcanic rocks along the western edge of the Severn Valley The survey ranges from the early prehistoric period to the present day including the two large Iron Age hillforts on the ridge Landscapes Through the Lens David C. Cowley, Robin A.

Standring, Matthew J. Abicht, 2010-11-11 This volume presents the rich but under utilised and in parts inaccessible archival historic aerial imagery traditional photographs and those captured from satellites for the exploration and management of cultural heritage An unparalleled resource for archaeologists and all with an interest in landscapes images spanning the second half of the 20th century provide an unrivalled means of documenting and understanding change and informing the study of the past Case studies written by leading experts in their fields illustrate the applications of this imagery across a wide range of heritage issues from prehistoric cultivation and settlement patterns to the impact of recent landscape change Contemporary environmental and land use issues are also dealt with in a volume that will be of interest to archaeologists historians geographers and those in related disciplines The Archaeological Journal, 2006 Assessing Iron Age

Marsh-Forts Shelagh Norton, 2021-10-07 This volume assesses marsh forts as a separate phenomenon within Iron Age society through an understanding of their landscape context and palaeoenvironmental development These substantial monuments appear to have been deliberately constructed to control areas of marginal wetland and may have played an important role in the ritual landscape Westward on the High-Hilled Plains Derek Hurst, 2017-03-31 The West Midlands has struggled archaeologically to project a distinct regional identity having largely been defined by reference to other areas with a stronger cultural identity and history such as Wessex the South West and the North Only occasionally has the West Midlands come to prominence for instance in the middle Saxon period viz the kingdom of Mercia or much later with rural south Shropshire being the birthplace of the Industrial Revolution Yet it is a region rich in natural mineral resources set amidst readily productive farmland and with major rivers such as the Severn facilitating transportation The scale of its later prehistoric monuments notably the hillforts proclaims the centralisation of some functions whether for security exchange or emulation while society supported the production and widespread distribution of specialised craft goods Finally towards the close of prehistory localised kingdoms can be seen to emerge into view In the course of reviewing the evidence for later prehistory from the Middle Bronze Age to Late Iron Age the papers presented here adopt a variety of approaches being either regional county wide or thematic eg by site type or artefactual typology and they also encompass the wider landscape as reconstructed from environmental evidence This is the second volume in a series The Making of the West Midlands that explores the archaeology of the English West Midlands region from the Lower Palaeolithic onwards These volumes based on a series of West Midlands Research Framework seminars aim to transform perceptions of the nature and significance of the archaeological evidence across a large part of central Britain Of Mud and Flame Matthew Harle, James

Machin,2019-12-31 Exploring Penda's Fen a 1974 BBC film that achieved mythic status In 1974 the BBC broadcast the film Penda's Fen leaving audiences mystified and spellbound Make no mistake We had a major work of television last night The Times declared the next morning Written by the playwright and classicist David Rudkin the film follows Stephen an 18 year old boy whose identity sexuality and suffocating nationalism unravels through a series of strange visions After its original broadcast Penda's Fen vanished into unseen mythic status with only a single rebroadcast in 1990 sustaining its cult following With a DVD release by the BFI in 2016 Penda's Fen has now become totemic for those interested in Britain's deep history folklore and landscape Of Mud and Flame brings together writers artists and historians to excavate and explore this unique cornerstone of Britain's uncanny archive Contributors include David Rudkin Sukhdev Sandhu Roger Luckhurst Gareth Evan Adam Scovell Bethany Whalley Carl Phelpstead David Ian Rabey David Rolinson Craig Wallace Daniel O'Donnell Smith William Fowler Yvonne Salmon Andy W Smith Carolyn Larrington John Harle Timothy J Jarvis Tom White Daniel Eltringham Joseph Brooker Gary Budden Beacons in the Landscape Ian Brown,2009-07-20 Of all Britain's great archaeological monuments the Iron Age hillforts have arguably had the most profound impact on the landscape if only because there are so many yet we know very little about them Were they recognised as being something special by those who created them or is the hillfort purely an archaeologists construct How were they constructed who lived in them and to what uses were they put This book which is richly illustrated with photography of sites throughout England and Wales addresses these and many other questions After discussing the difficult issue of definition and the great excavations on which our knowledge is based Ian Brown investigates in turn hillforts origins their architecture and the role they played in Iron Age society He also discusses the latest theories about their location social significance and chronology The book provides a valuable synthesis of the rich vein of research carried out in Britain on hillforts over the last thirty years Hillforts great variability poses many problems and this book should help guide both the specialist and non specialist alike though the complex literature Furthermore it has an important conservation objective Land use in the modern era has not been kind to these monuments with a significant number either disfigured or lost Public consciousness of their importance needs raising if their management is to be improved and their future assured The Oxford Handbook of Later Medieval Archaeology in Britain Christopher Gerrard,Alejandra Gutiérrez,2018-01-11 The Middle Ages are all around us in Britain The Tower of London and the castles of Scotland and Wales are mainstays of cultural tourism and an inspiring cross section of later medieval finds can now be seen on display in museums across England Scotland and Wales Medieval institutions from Parliament and monarchy to universities are familiar to us and we come into contact with the later Middle Ages every day when we drive through a village or town look up at the castle on the hill visit a local church or wonder about the earthworks in the fields we see from the window of a train The Oxford Handbook of Later Medieval Archaeology in Britain provides an overview of the archaeology of the later Middle Ages in Britain between AD 1066 and 1550 61 entries divided into 10

thematic sections cover topics ranging from later medieval objects human remains archaeological science standing buildings and sites such as castles and monasteries to the well preserved relict landscapes which still survive This is a rich and exciting period of the past and most of what we have learnt about the material culture of our medieval past has been discovered in the past two generations This volume provides comprehensive coverage of the latest research and describes the major projects and concepts that are changing our understanding of our medieval heritage The Medieval Cloister in England and Wales John McNeill, 2017-12-02 This dedicated volume of the Journal of the British Archaeological Association draws together ten papers which collectively explore something of the art and architecture styles and uses of the medieval cloister in England and Wales Contributors consider the continental context cloisters in English palaces Benedictine and Augustinian cloister arcades in the 12th and 13th centuries architecture and meaning in Cistercian east ranges late medieval vaulted cloisters in the West Country cloisters at the cathedrals of Old Sarum Canterbury and Lincoln and assess the extent to which the cloister bosses at Norwich cathedral priory reflect contemporary religious politics The volume also contains an extended consideration and gazetteer of all Cistercian cloisters in England and Wales Reflections: 50 Years of Medieval Archaeology, 1957-2007: No. 30 Roberta Gilchrist, Andrew Reynolds, 2018-12-13 This volume celebrates the 50th anniversary of the Society for Medieval Archaeology established in 1957 presenting reflections on the history development and future prospects of the discipline The papers are drawn from a series of conferences and workshops that took place in 2007 08 in addition to a number of contributions that were commissioned especially for the volume They range from personal commentaries on the history of the Society and the growth of the subject see papers by David Wilson and Rosemary Cramp to historiographical regional and thematic overviews of major trends in the evolution and current practice of medieval archaeology All the publications are fully refereed with the aim of publishing at the highest academic level reports on sites of national and international importance and of encouraging the widest debate The series objectives are to cover the broadest chronological and geographical range and to assemble a series of volumes which reflect the changing intellectual and technical scope of the discipline
