Cybernetic Capitalism Jan Overwijk, 2025-01-07 This book offers a conceptual interrogation of how capital navigates its cybernetic environment Taking an immanent perspective the book develops a unique synthesis between Niklas Luhmann's systems theory and the critical theory tradition Overwijk shows how neoliberal capitalism's version of rationalization depends on the organization and management of society on the basis of cybernetic principles Overwijk seeks to update earlier critiques of cybernetic capitalism that stressed the system's colonization of its environment its making the entirety of social life communicable Under today's cybernetic rationalization things are radically different Neoliberal political economy aims to incite the incalculability of the market platform capitalists venture to capitalize on the unpredictable efforts of their users and post Fordist management seeks to encourage the creativity of service workers As this book uniquely shows capital no longer aims at total communicability but instead seeks to provoke and exploit the incommunicability of its environment In this sense it offers an ecological theory of capitalism laying conceptual the groundwork for understanding the extractivist logic of the Anthropocene Cybernetic Capitalism shows how the cultural obsession with incommunicability that animates cybernetic rationalization has taken an irrationalist turn resurfacing in the mysticism of conspiracy theory and radical right politics The book offers a novel and compelling materialist interpretation of today's paradoxical connections between neoliberal rationalism and radical right irrationalism

Neocybernetics and Narrative Bruce Clarke, 2014-09-15 Neocybernetics and Narrative opens a new chapter in Bruce Clarke's project of rethinking narrative and media through systems theory. Reconceiving interrelations among subjects, media significations and the social, this study demonstrates second order systems theory's potential to provide fresh insights into the familiar topics of media studies and narrative theory. A pioneer of systems narratology, Clarke offers readers a synthesis of the neocybernetic theories of cognition formulated by biologists Humberto Maturana and Francisco Varela, incubated by cyberneticist Heinz von Foerster and cultivated in Niklas Luhmann's social systems theory. From this foundation, he interrogates media theory and narrative theory through a critique of information theory in favor of autopoietic conceptions of cognition. Clarke's purview includes examinations of novels Mrs Dalloway and Mind of My Mind, movies Avatar, Memento and Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind, and even Aramis Bruno Latour's idiosyncratic meditation on a failed plan for an automated subway. Clarke declares the era of the cyborg to have ended, laid to rest as the ontology of technical objects is brought into differential coordination with operations of living psychic and social systems. The second order discourse of cognition destabilizes the usual sense of cognition as conscious awareness, revealing the possibility of nonconscious and nonhuman forms of sentience.

This volume explores the importance and significance that music has in our lives The relationship between music and identity is based on conceptions about meanings and identification especially powerful when connected with youth and popular music We narrate ourselves in a musical way and we must study music as culture rather than music in culture The contributions to this book attend to emerging phenomena such as the rise of the Reggaeton music around the world the importance of music in anime media and music industry changes and uncertainties in the new millennium Music is art but it is also an industry and a business and the two are intertwined through the sale of tickets original formulas are obtained and in the same way products not just musical but multimedia are born from alternative culture eventually becoming mainstream In addition this book also takes into account iconic artists such as Nirvana David Bowie or Miley Cyrus and the important contribution of music to the narrative and success of popular TV series analysing cases such as Babylon Berlin and Vikings From Blade Runner 1982 to current television mainstream productions the music image alliance does not only satisfy and distract us but also challenges us and forces us to rethink our view of the world

Red Enlightenment Graham Jones, 2023-05-09 Why we need a materialist spirituality for the secular left and how to build one The left commonly rejects religion and spirituality as counter revolutionary forces citing Marx's famous dictum that religion is the opium of the people Yet forms of spirituality have motivated struggles throughout history ranging from medieval peasant uprisings and colonial slave revolts to South American liberation theology and the US civil rights movement And in a world where religion is growing and political movements are ridden with conflict burnout and failure what can the left learn from religion Red Enlightenment argues not only for a deepened understanding of religious matters but calls for the secular left to develop its own spiritual perspectives It proposes a materialist spirituality built from socialist and scientific sources finding points of contact with the global history of philosophy and religion From cybernetics to liberation theology from ancient Indian and Chinese philosophy to Marxist dialectical materialism from traditional religious practices to contemporary art music and film Red Enlightenment sets out a plausible secular spirituality a new socialist praxis and a utopian vision
