Spoils Of Famine Ethiopian Famine Policy And Peasant Agriculture:

The Spoils of Famine Jason W. Clay, Sandra Steingraber, Peter Niggli, 1988
Famine R. E. Downs, Donna O. Kerner, Stephen P. Reyna, 2019-07-19 Originally published in 1991 This volume explores the combination of political and economic forces that influence different levels of food supply The book begins with a discussion of famine theories ranging from cultural ecology to neo Marxism Following this survey is a series of essays by anthropologists geographers economists and development practitioners that explores the role of Western institutions in African famine analyzes famine in particular countries and documents the relationship between famine and gender This book takes an unusually broad look at famine by including analyses of countries where hunger has rarely been studied and by examining African famine from both African and Western perspectives Its concluding proposals for eradicating famine make innovative and provocative contributions to current global debates on food and nutrition Routledge Library Editions: Food Supply and Policy Various, 2021-08-29 Reissuing works originally published between 1952 and 1999 this set provides a wide spread of scholarship on issues surrounding food provision throughout the world The earlier books look at import and export changes during times when previous trade routes and options changed while later ones mostly consider food assistance policies poverty and famine and welfare These books cover third world studies economics anthropology politics environment agriculture and population studies as well as food and nutrition
The Oxford Handbook of Genocide Studies Donald Bloxham, A. Dirk Moses, 2010-04-15 This book subjects both genocide and genocide studies to systematic in depth analysis 34 renowned experts study genocide world wide through the ages by taking regional thematic and interdisciplinary approaches
Medical Anthropology in Ecological Perspective Ann McElroy, 2018-04-19 Global environmental change and recent worldwide infectious disease outbreaks make the ecological perspective of medical anthropology more important a field of study than ever In this premier teaching text authors Ann McElroy and Patricia K Townsend integrate biocultural environmental and evolutionary approaches to the study of human health providing a complete and authoritative ecological perspective that is essential for interpreting medical anthropology Research by biological anthropologists archaeologists and paleopathologists illuminates the history and prehistory of disease along with coverage of contemporary health issues both local and global This sixth edition is thoroughly revised and updated with expanded discussion on the interaction of environment and infectious disease new material on climate change globalization and the effects of war on physical and mental health and an entirely new chapter on ethics in community health and medical anthropology Medical Anthropology in Ecological Perspective captures the essentials of the discipline and covers its ever changing topics trends and developments in an engaging accessible way
Human Rights Mark Goodale, 2008-10-20 This innovative reader brings together key works that demonstrate the important and unique contributions anthropologists have made to the understanding and practice of human rights over the last 60 years Draws on a range of intellectual and methodological approaches to reveal both the ambiguities and potential of the postwar human rights project Brings together essays by both contemporary luminaries and seminal figures to provide a rich introduction to the subject Supplemented with selected international human rights documents and links to websites on human rights Evil Days Alex De Waal,1991 For the past thirty years under both Emperor Haile Selassie and President Mengistu Haile Mariam Ethiopia suffered continuous war and intermittent famine until every single province has been affected by war to some degree Evil Days documents the wide range of violations of basic human rights committed by all sides in the conflict especially the Mengistu government's direct responsibility for the deaths of at least half a million Ethiopian civilians Coming Home? Lynel D. Long, Ellen Oxfeld,2017-06-16 Few things weigh on the human spirit more heavily than a sense of place the lands we live in and return to have a profound ability to shape our notions of home and homeland not to mention our own identities The pull of the familiar and the desire to begin anew are conflicting impulses for the nearly 180 million people who live outside their countries of origin often with the expectation of returning home Of 30 million people who immigrated to the United States alone between 1900 and 1980 10 million are believed to have returned to their homelands While migration flows occur in both directions surprisingly few studies of transnationalism global migration or diaspora address return experiences Undertaking a comparative analysis of how coming home affects individuals and their communities in a myriad cultural and geographic settings the contributors to this volume seek to understand the unique return migration experiences of refugees migrants and various others as they confront the social pressures and a sense of displacement that accompany their journeys The returns depicted in Coming Home range from temporary visits to permanent repatriation from voluntary to coerced movements and from those occurring after a few years of exile to those after several decades away The geographic sites include the Balkans Barbados China Eritrea Ethiopia Germany Nicaragua the Philippines Rwanda and Vietnam Several studies portray the experiences of returning refugees who earlier fled war and violence while others focus on economic or labor migrants As the essays show connections between permanent returnees and home communities are contentious and complex On the one hand issues of land title property rights political orientation and religious and cultural beliefs and practices create grounds for clashes between returnees and their home communities but on the other returnees bring with them a unique ability to transform local practices and provide new resources Islam, Ethnicity, and Conflict in Ethiopia Terje Østebø,2020-10-01 Focusing on the role of religion and ethnicity in times of conflict Terje Østebø investigates the Muslim dominated insurgency against the Ethiopian state in the 1960s shedding new light on this understudied case in order to contribute to a deeper understanding of religion inter religious relations ethnicity and ethno nationalism in the Horn of Africa Islam Ethnicity and Conflict in Ethiopia develops new theoretical perspectives on the interrelations between ethnic and religious identities considering ethnic and religious groups as mutually exclusive categories by applying the term peoplehood as an analytical tool one that allows for more flexible perspectives Exploring the interplay of imagination and lived affective reality and inspired by the materiality turn in cultural and religious studies Stebbins argues for an integrated approach which recognizes and explores embodiment and emplacement as intrinsic to formations of ethnic and religious identities

International Migration and Global Justice Satvinder Juss, 2016-04-22 How should international law approach the critical issue of movement of peoples in the 21st century This book presents a radical reappraisal of this controversial problem Challenging present day ideas of restrictions on freedom of movement and the international structure that controls entry to states it argues for a new blueprint for international migration policy that eliminates waste aids both developing and developed societies and brings attendant benefits to voluntary migrants and involuntary refugees alike In a world of increasing disorder it is suggested that current policy only adds to international instability and threatens the interests of a functional global community

Resettlement and Famine in Ethiopia Alula Pankhurst, 1992 This book is the inside story of the Ethiopian resettlement programme carried out in the mid 1980s by the Ethiopian government amid fierce international controversy It relies on the views of the settlers themselves and is based on an in depth study carried out by an anthropologist who lived in a resettlement village Alula Pankhurst dispels current myths about resettlement while showing the importance of famine and coercion he highlights social factors in the mosaic of settlers motivation He documents the attempt to institute a collectivist model of agriculture and analyses the reasons for its failure He also examines the effects of Ethiopia's recent economic liberalisation and the impact of aid agencies The book addresses an increasing Third World phenomenon state organised relocation It is a major contribution to the literature on mass migration and on refugees By focusing on the interaction between people and the state it also reassesses a fundamental development problem the gulf between local and national priorities Accessible and thought provoking Resettlement and famine in Ethiopia will be of interest to anthropologists students of development studies and practitioners and all those concerned by famine forced migration and socialist attempts to transform societies

Understanding Impoverishment Chris McDowell, 1996 Infrastructure development projects are set to continue into the next century as developing country governments seek to manage population growth urbanization and industrialization The contributions in this volume raise many questions about development and progress in the late twentieth century What is revealed are the enormous problems and disastrous affects which continue to accompany displacement operations in many countries which raise the ever more urgent question of whether the benefits of infrastructure development justify or outweigh the pain of the radical disruption of peoples lives exacerbated by the fact that with some notable exceptions there has been a lack of official recognition on the part of governments and international agencies that development induced displacement is a problem at all This important volume addresses the issues and shows just how serious the situation is

Seeing Like a State James C. Scott, 2020-03-17 One of the most profound and illuminating studies of this century to have been published in recent decades John Gray New York Times Book Review Hailed as a magisterial critique of top down social planning by the New York Times this essential work analyzes disasters from Russia to Tanzania to uncover why states so often fail sometimes catastrophically in grand efforts to engineer their society or their environment and uncovers the conditions common to all such planning disasters Beautifully written this book calls into sharp relief the nature of the world we now inhabit New Yorker A tour de force Charles Tilly Columbia University War and Underdevelopment: Country experiences Frances Stewart, Edmund Valpy Knox Fitzgerald, 2001 This series traces the economic and social consequences of conflict both theoretically and through empirical investigations including seven country case studies Ethnocide: A Cultural Narrative of Refugee Detention in Hong Kong Joe Thomas, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2000 An ethnographic inquiry into the socio cultural dynamics of the Vietnamese asylum seeker detention centres in Hong Kong during the period of 1988 1995 It deals essentially with the British asylum policy towards Vietnamese refugees and its outcome in Hong Kong Based on the author's first hand experience of working in refugee camps this book argues that the administrators managed to solve the crisis by perpetuating horrendous human rights violations and subsequent ethnocide of the asylum seekers trapped in the detention centres
