Popular Science, 1999-05 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better Paul's 'Spirit of Adoption' in its Roman Imperial Context Robert Brian Lewis, 2016-01-28 Robert Lewis examines Paul's use of the phrase Spirit of Adoption in Romans 8 12 17 against the background of its Roman Imperial context in order to shed light on interpretation of Paul's Letter to the Romans Whereas other scholars have explored what Paul may have meant when he uses the term adoption Lewis instead explores the reasons behind Paul's coupling of it with the term spirit Having examined theories for a possible Jewish antecedent for Paul's use of this phrase and found them less than persuasive Lewis unlocks the data within the term's Roman Imperial context that significantly clarifies what Paul means when he uses the phrase Spirit of adoption Lewis shows that when Paul wrote his letter to the Romans adoption had become a feature of Imperial succession Roman religion gave a great deal of prominence to the Roman family spirit the genius The Emperor's genius became identified as a deity in Roman religion and its veneration was widespread in Rome as well as the provinces When Romans 8 12 17 is read against this background a very different kind of exegetical picture emerges The DVD-laser Disc Newsletter, 1999 Media Review Digest C. Singapore Perspectives 2007 Tan Tarn How, 2007 The 1 international bestseller A Finalist for the George Orwell Book Prize It would be absurd to think that a book can cause riots Salman Rushdie asserted just months before the publication of his novel The Satanic Verses But that's exactly what eventually happened In England protests started just months after the book's publication with Muslim protestors mainly from immigrant backgrounds coming by the thousands from the outer suburbs of London and from England's old industrial centers places like Bradford Bolton and Macclesfield to denounce Rushdie's novel as blasphemous and to burn it In February of 1988 the protests spread to Pakistan where riots broke out killing five That same month Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini called for Rushdie's assassination and for the killing of anyone involved with the book's publication It was this frightening chain of events Kenan Malik argues in his enlightened personal and political account of the period that transformed the relationship between Islam and the West From then on Islam was a domestic issue for residents of Europe and the United States a matter of terror and geopolitics that was no longer geographically constrained to the Middle East and South Asia Malik investigates the communities from which the anti Rushdie activists emerged showing the subtleties of immigrant life in 1980s England He depicts the growth of the anti racist and Asian youth movements and shows how young Britons went from supporting these progressive movements to embracing a conservative strain of Islam Malik also controversially tackles England's peculiar strain of multiculturalism arguing that policymakers there failed to integrate Muslim immigrants which many politicians saw as incompatible with their own Western values It was a perception that led many to appeal to Muslims not as citizens but as people whose primary loyalty was to their faith and who could be engaged only by their community leaders It was also a policy that encouraged Muslims to view themselves as semi detached citizens and that inevitably played into the hands of radical Islamists Twenty years later the questions raised by the Rushdie affair Islam's relationship to the West the meaning of multiculturalism the limits of tolerance in a liberal society have become the defining issues of our time

The Moving Form of Film

Lúcia Nagib, Stefan Solomon, 2023 The Moving Form of Film Historicizing the Medium through Other Media charts the ways in which crossing borders between film and other arts and media can provide an encompassing inclusive and non teleological understanding of film history Evolutionary narratives of cinema have traditionally adopted the Second World War as a watershed that separates classical Hollywood films from modern European productions a scheme that subjects the entire world to the cinematic history of two hegemonic centres In turn histories of film as a technological medium have focused on the specificity of cinema as it gradually separated from the other art and medial forms theatre dance fairground spectacle painting literature still photography and other pre cinematic modes Taking an ambitious step forward with relation to these approaches this book focuses on the fluid quality of the film form by exploring an array of exciting and often neglected artistic expressions worldwide as they compare and interconnect films across temporal geographical and cultural borders By observing the ebb and flow of film's contours within the bounds of other artistic and medial expressions the chapters aspire to establish a flexible historical platform for the moving form of film posited from production to consumption as a transforming and transformative medium
