Uncommon Anthropologist Nancy Mattina, 2019-10-10 A trailblazer in Native American linguistics and anthropology Gladys Reichard 1893 1955 is one of America's least appreciated anthropologists Her accomplishments were obscured in her lifetime by differences in intellectual approach and envy as well as academic politics and the gender realities of her age This biography offers the first full account of Reichard's life her milieu and most important her work establishing once and for all her lasting significance in the history of anthropology In her thirty two years as the founder and head of Barnard College's groundbreaking anthropology department Reichard taught that Native languages written or unwritten sacred or profane offered Euro Americans the least distorted views onto the inner life of North America's first peoples. This unique approach put her at odds with anthropologists such as Edward Sapir, leader of the structuralist movement in American linguistics. Similarly, Reichard's focus on Native psychology as revealed to her by Native artists and storytellers produced a dramatically different style of ethnography from that of Margaret Mead, who relied on western psychological archetypes to crack alien cultural codes often at a distance. Despite intense pressure from her peers to conform to their theories, Reichard held firm to her humanitarian principles and methods. The result, as Nancy Mattina makes clear, was pathbreaking work in the ethnography of ritual and mythology. Wiyot, Coeur d'Alene, and Navajo linguistics, folk art, gender, and language, amplified by an exceptional career of teaching, editing, publishing, and mentoring. Drawing on Reichard's own writings and correspondence, this book provides an intimate picture of her small town upbringing, the professional challenges she faced in male-centered institutions, and her quietly revolutionary contributions to anthropology. Gladys Reichard emerges as she lived and worked: a far-sighted, self-reliant humanist sustained in turbulent times by the generous egalitarian spirit that called her yearly to the far corners of the American West.

Beyond the Second Sex Peggy Reeves Sanday, Ruth Gallagher Goodenough, 1990. Addresses the conflict, contradictions, and ambiguities that are often encountered in field research. People, Land & Water, 2000. Ecotone Florence R. Shepard, 1994-07-01. Ecotone: Wayfaring on the Margins. A personal history of place is written from the perspective of a teacher, naturalist, and feminist, and uses the metaphor of the biological ecotone as the boundary where inner and outer landscapes of the woman-nature continuum meet. In this book Krall proposes a counter-narrative to the usual reading of marginality. In autobiographical narrative that rings with experience, she describes margins as rich as dynamic abodes, places of crossing over and transition, as well as spaces of separation and alienation. In reinterpreting journeys and encounters, she maps the shared terrain of the personal, social, and natural fields of our lives. She draws upon Native American sensibilities about place, relationship, and the sacred in order to deepen our understanding of human nature, bonds, to more fully develop respect and responsibility to others, and to heal the rifts that sometimes set humans at odds with other humans and non-human creatures and threaten life on earth.
