Spinner Volume Iii People And Culture In Southeastern Massachusetts:

Spinner, Volume III Donna Huse, 1984 The Patina of Place Kingston Wm Heath, 2001 In the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the booming textile industry turned many New England towns and villages into industrialized urban centers This rapid urbanization transformed not only the economic base but the regional identity of communities such as New Bedford as new housing forms emerged to accommodate the largely immigrant workforce of the mills A Window Back Nicholas Whitman, 1994 Holds special interest for marine history and New England history enthusiasts those with interest in photography art history students and professionals This unique portrait of New England's yesterdays features vintage photographs from the New Bedford Whaling Museum collection Recounting the history of photography in the New Bedford area between 1845 and 1920 A Window Back paints an intimate portrait of a bygone era portraying the working waterfront farms city scapes and people at leisure It takes us inside the studio and aboard whaling ships These brief glimpses represent and illuminate our past giving us a window back on time Spinner Joseph D. Thomas, Marsha McCabe, 1987-12-01 Historic Cultural Land Use Study of Lower Cape Cod Richard D. Holmes, 1998 Between Race and Ethnicity Marilyn Halter, 2022-10-17 Arriving in New England first as crew members of whaling vessels Afro Portuguese immigrants from Cape Verde later came as permanent settlers and took work in the cranberry industry on the docks and as domestic workers Marilyn Halter combines oral history with analyses of ships records to chart the history and adaptation patterns of the Cape Verdean Americans Though identifying themselves in ethnic terms Cape Verdeans found that their African European ancestry led their new society to view them as a racial group Halter emphasizes racial and ethnic identity formation to show how Cape Verdeans set themselves apart from the African Americans while attempting to shrug off white society's exclusionary tactics She also contrasts rural life on the bogs of Cape Cod with New Bedford's urban community to reveal the ways immigrants established their own social and religious groups as they strove to maintain their Crioulo customs Bay State Librarian, 1984 Daddy Grace Marie W Dallam, 2007-11-01 This edgy and resourceful analysis of the early twentieth century preacher expands our understanding of a critical period in the black church experience Shayne Lee author of T D Jakes America's New Preacher In 1919 Charles Manuel Sweet Daddy Grace founded the United House of Prayer for All People long regarded as one of the most extreme Pentecostal sects in the country The flamboyant Grace wore purple suits with glitzy jewelry purchased high profile real estate and conducted baptisms in city streets with a fire hose He was also reputed to accept massive donations from his poverty stricken followers and use the money to live lavishly Though Grace appeared to be the glue that held this church together it has continued to thrive long after his death in 1960 After a period of restructuring and streamlining the House of Prayer remains active with a national membership in the tens of thousands In Daddy Grace Marie W Dallam offers both a religious history of the House of Prayer and an intellectual history of its colorful and enigmatic leader Dallam examines the religious nature of the House of Prayer the dimensions of Grace's leadership strategies and the connections between his often ostentatious acts and the intentional infrastructure of the church itself Furthermore woven through the text are analyses of the race class and gender issues manifest in the House of Prayer structure under Grace s aegis
