Spirit A Catechesis For The Sacrament Of Confirmation:

Spirit James J. Killgallon, 1980 United States Catholic Catechism for Adults Catholic Church. United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, 2006 Includes bibliographical references pages 540 542 and indexes Be Sealed with the Gift of the Holy Spirit Philippa Bellows, 2011 The revised Rite of Confirmation in the Roman Catholic Church uses Accipe signaculum Domini Spiritus Sancti Be sealed with the gift of the Holy Spirit I as its essential formula By doing so it points to a wealth of Scriptural and Patristic doctrine which should help those being confirmed to appreciate what they are being given This thesis argues that these words contain a largely untapped resource which is potentially valuable as part of the process of confirmation catechesis A survey suggests that published programmes for confirmation preparation in use in England and Wales do not help young people to understand the seal of the Holy Spirit even though the Church is keen that they should By changing the bishop's words to be sealed with the gift of the Holy Spirit the Rite of Confirmation later supported by the Catechism of the Catholic Church CCC suggests that sealing is central to the meaning of the sacrament of confirmation This thesis identifies a need for catechesis on the seal of the Spirit It draws on contemporary challenges to confirmation catechesis and discusses areas of dissonance between what young people are receiving from published confirmation preparation programmes and what the Church teaches The catechetical usefulness of the words be sealed with the gift of the Spirit is justified through a thorough investigation into the historical and scriptural roots of the terms ppayic and 0
