Culture, Consolation, and Continuing Bonds in Bereavement Dennis Klass, 2022-01-25 Culture Consolation and Continuing Bonds in Bereavement presents Dennis Klass's most important contributions to the scholarship of grief and bereavement. Journal articles, book chapters, and previously unpublished works cover more than 40 years of study and practice on the forefront of our understanding of individual, family, and community grief. The writings range widely, including explorations of continuing bonds and consolation aspects of grief that were missing when Klass began his work. Studies of grief across different cultures and critical analyses of theories that were popular in grief scholarship but inadequately described bereaved parents' experiences. The book ends with a previously unpublished case study of Charles Darwin whose experience as a bereaved parent informed the worldview at the heart of his theory of natural selection. This collection of essays offers an integral understanding of how individuals move through grief and is a valuable addition to the library of anyone working with topics relevant to grieving adults, children, and adolescents.

Men Don't Cry, Women Do Kenneth J. Doka, Terry L. Martin, 2014-03-05 Do men and women grieve differently? This text, while emphasizing that there are many ways to cope with grief, offers a refreshing change from the popular gender stereotypes of grief. Two patterns of grieving are described: an intuitive pattern where individuals experience and express grief in an affective way, stereotyped as female, and an instrumental pattern where grief is expressed physically or cognitively, stereotyped as male. A third pattern representing a blending of these two is also introduced. Of critical importance is that such patterns are related to but not determined by gender, and each has distinct strengths and weaknesses. Organized into three main parts, this topical new text begins by defining terms, introducing and delineating the grief patterns, and rooting the book's concept in contemporary theories of grief. The second part speculates on factors that may influence individuals' patterns of coping with loss, e.g., personality, gender, culture, etc. The final part considers implications and therapeutic interventions likely to be effective with different types of grievers.

Jan Patočka and the Phenomenology of Life After Death Gustav Strandberg, Hugo Strandberg, 2023-12-12 This volume contains for the first time in English Jan Patočka's seminal essay The Phenomenology of Afterlife, as well as contributions surrounding and analyzing this text. In his essay, Patočka reflects on our relation to the dead and on how the departure of a loved one affects our continued existence. The premise of Patočka's investigation is that our existence always takes place by and through an originary and reciprocal being-for-others. The contributors in the volume extend the field of inquiry into the wider phenomenological and post-phenomenological discussion of death by being cognizant of how works of literature can broaden our understanding of the care of death, grief, forgiveness, and non-reciprocal love. Also included are reflections on issues of philosophical anthropology, community, collective memory, and the ecstatic nature of life, issues that can all be related back to Patočka's initial reflections but which nonetheless radiate into a myriad of directions. This volume appeals to students and researchers in the field.

Encounter in Pastoral Care and Spiritual Healing Daniël Johannes Louw, Takaaki David Ito, Ulrike Elsdörfer, 2012 The International Council on Pastoral Care and Counseling ICPCC met in August 2011 in Rotorua New Zealand for its 9th International Congress Various discussions in the field arose from actual challenges such as the earthquake in Japan social changes and mainly deprivations all over the world The ICPCC offers guidelines on how to cope with these situations which also include the indigenous traditions of the Maori culture projects on inter religious encounter etc all of which provoke a rethinking of traditional spirituality The Congress proceedings are presented in this book as a state of discussion within this globalized network Series Theologie Forschung und Wissenschaft Vol 33 Parent Grief Paul C. Rosenblatt, 2016-02-04 Explores what couple and individual stories say and do not say about the child s dying and death and about parent grief The author uses narratives as his tool for the introduction and exploration of the many facets of parental grief Maternal Grief in the Hebrew Bible Ekaterina E. Kozlova, 2017 Maternal Grief in the Hebrew Bible explores the stories of biblical mothers who were placed at key junctures in Israel s history to renegotiate the destinies not only of their own children dead or lost but also those of larger communities i e family lines ethnic groups or entire nations These women used the circumstance of child loss as a platform for a kind of grief driven socio political activism As maternal bereavement is generally understood as the most intense of all types of loss and was seen as archetypal of all mourning in the ancient Near East Israelite communities in crisis deemed sorrowing motherhood as a potent agent in bringing about their own survival and resurgence back to normalcy Book jacket Supporting the Child and the Family in Paediatric Palliative Care Erica Brown, Brian Warr, 2007-06-15 This book provides a comprehensive overview of good practice in caring for terminally ill children young people and their families The material offers helpful suggestions on how to support families in making informed choices during distressing periods such as where their child will die and how to prepare for the funeral Women's Mental Health Nazilla Khanlou, F. Beryl Pilkington, 2015-07-23 This book focuses on the social and societal context of women's mental health. Drawing from multidisciplinary perspectives and scholarship, it pays particular attention to how women's mental health is experienced at the personal level yet it is influenced by their relationships and interacts with the larger societal context such as prevailing gender equality policies, income distribution, role burden, peace and security. Specific attention is given to the positive aspects of women's mental health such as agency, resilience, and how women's personal relations across diverse domains such as family, work, neighbourhoods are constructed and influenced by and in turn influence broader societal structures, policies, opportunities. A unique feature of this book is that at the end of each chapter there is a Response section written by a non-academic such as a community member, practitioner, or policy maker in which the invited authors respond to the chapter texts in the form of narrative, poetry, and/or prose according to their various backgrounds, interests, and experiences.

The Book of My Son Reuben David Cohen, 2023-06-23 I wish I had not had to write this book because then my lovely son Reuben would still be alive, says David Cohen. He was adorable, formidably intelligent, a loving son, a loving brother. He died far too young. He had the bad luck to have two grandparents who had addictive personalities. His efforts to resist the lure of drugs failed. And so did I. The Book of My Son Reuben is a personal account of how psychologist David Cohen coped and did not cope with the death of his son Reuben. Offering a unique perspective on the experience of parental loss, it offers a personal and analytical exploration of sorrow and guilt and of what research tells us about trauma and grief. Illustrated throughout with David Cohen's personal insight into how he continues to navigate his loss, this honest book provides a deeper understanding of loss for parents who have experienced it as well as those who support them. The book remembers the many parents who have lost children throughout history and chapters weave personal perspectives with the latest research. It examines the experience of sudden deaths, the failures of society in preventing children from dying, the role of social media, how the loss of a child impacts fathers, siblings, and relationships, and the usefulness or otherwise of bereavement therapies. A tribute to Reuben's life, this sensitive volume is for those who have experienced loss and want to gain better understanding of their experience as well as psychologists, psychotherapists, and counsellors working with families.

Loss, Change And Bereavement In Palliative Care Firth, Pam, Luff, Gill, Oliviere, David, 2004-12-01 This text brings together contemporary thinking on loss and bereavement. It draws on international research, practice, and individual stories from people struggling to understand the meaning of loss, including work with bereaved children, parents, families, and adults.

Dealing with Dying, Death, and Grief during Adolescence David E. Balk, 2014-02-18 For some, life's introduction to death and grief comes early, and when it does, it can take many forms. Not only does Dealing with Dying, Death, and Grief during Adolescence tackle them all, it does so with David Balk's remarkable sensitivity to and deep knowledge of the pressures and opportunities adolescents face in their transition from childhood to adulthood. In seamless, jargon-free language, Balk brings readers up to date with what we know about adolescent development.

because over time such changes form the backstory we need to comprehend the impact of death and bereavement in an adolescent's life. The book's later chapters break down the recent findings in the study of life-threatening illness and bereavement during adolescence. And crucially these chapters also examine interventions that assist adolescents coping with these difficulties. Clinicians will come away from this book with both a grounded understanding of adolescent development and the adolescent experience of death and they'll also gain specific tools for helping adolescents cope with death and grief on their own terms. For any clinician committed to supporting adolescents facing some of life's most difficult experiences this integrated up-to-date and deeply insightful text is simply the book to have. David E. Balk is professor in the department of health and nutrition sciences at Brooklyn College CUNY where he directs the graduate program in thanatology. He is the author of Adolescent Development Early Through Late Adolescence, Helping the Bereaved College Student and several other books on death and bereavement. He is also co-editor of the 2nd edition of the Handbook of Thanatology (Routledge, 2013).

When Professionals Weep (Renee S. Katz, Therese A. Johnson, 2016-01-22) When Professionals Weep speaks to the humbling and often transformational moments that clinicians experience in their careers as caregivers and healers—moments when it is often hard to separate the influence of our own emotional responses and worldviews from the patient's or family's. When Professionals Weep addresses these poignant moments when the professional's personal experiences with trauma, illness, death, and loss can subtly often stealthily surface and affect the helping process. This edition, like the first, both validates clinicians' experiences and also helps them process and productively address compassion fatigue, burnout, and secondary traumatic stress. New material in the second edition includes increased emphasis on the burgeoning fields of hospice and palliative care, organizational countertransference, mindfulness, and compassionate practice. It includes thought-provoking cases, self-assessments, and exercises that can be used on an individual, dyadic, or group basis. This volume is an invaluable handbook for practitioners in the fields of medicine, mental health, social work, nursing, chaplaincy, the allied health sciences, psychology, and psychiatry.

Responding to Loss (Adolf Hansen, 2020-11-25) Reading this book, caregivers will find ways to increase their effectiveness by understanding more fully what their care receivers are experiencing, by finding creative ways to assist them in processing what is happening, and by working with them to discern responses to loss that are emotionally healthy, intellectually coherent, spiritually genuine, culturally sensitive, relationally authentic, and personally fulfilling.

Living, Dying, Death, and Bereavement (Volume One) (David E. Balk, 2020-10-21) This two-volume book offers extensive interviews with persons who have made significant contributions to thanatology, the study of dying, death, loss, and grief. The book's in-depth conversations provide compelling life stories of interest to clinicians, researchers, and educated lay persons, and to specialists interested in oral history as a means of gaining rich understandings of persons' lives. Several disciplines that contribute to thanatology are represented in this book, such as psychology, religious studies, art, literature, history, social work, nursing, theology, education, psychiatry, sociology, philosophy, and anthropology. The book is unique; no other text offers such a comprehensive insightful and personal review of work in the thanatology field The salience of thanatology is obvious when we consider several topics including the aging demographics of most countries the leading causes of death the devastation of COVID 19 the realities of how most persons die the growth both of hospice and of efforts within medicine to ensure that a good death becomes the norm of medical practice and increases in the number of countries and states permitting physician assisted suicide Volume One includes conversations with 21 thanatologists and an introductory chapter in which the author provides an overview of the project and offers reflections on what these thanatologists have told him The experts interviewed here include Robert Fulton Sandra Bertman Bill Worden Charles Corr Sister Frances Dominica Myra Bluebond Langner Nancy Hogan Robert Neimeyer Ken Doka and Donna Schuurman
