Overkill Bill Mesce, Jr., 2014-08-21 The work examines the evolution of the thriller from the heyday of the Hollywood mogul era in the 1930s when it was primarily bottom of the bill fodder through its maturity in the World War II years and noir breeding 1950s its commercial and critical ascendancy in the 1960s and 1970s and finally its subsequent box office dominance in the age of the blockbuster At a Theater or Drive-in Near You Randall Clark, 2013-12-17 Millions of Americans have been thrilled scared titillated and shocked by exploitation movies low budget films with many scenes of sex violence and other potentially lurid elements The term derives from the fact that promoters of such films exploit the contents in advertising that plays up the sexual or violent aspects of the films This is the first comprehensive study of the American exploitation film to be published It discusses five distinct genres the teen movie the sexploitation film the martial arts movie the blaxploitation film and the lawbreaker picture Contained within these genres are many popular American film types including beach movies biker pictures and women's prison movies The study provides a history and sociopolitical analysis of each genre focusing on significant films in those genres It also discusses the economics of exploitation films and their place in the motion picture industry the development of drive in theaters the significance of the teenage audience and the effect of the videocassette Finally the book applies major film and cultural theories to establish an aesthetic for evaluating the exploitation film and to explore the relationship between film and audience Sound in the American Horror Film Jeffrey Bullins, 2024-07-11 The crack of thunder a blood curdling scream creaking doors or maybe complete silence Sounds such as these have helped frighten and startle horror movie audiences for close to a century Listen to a Universal classic like Dracula or Frankenstein and you will hear a very different soundtrack from contemporary horror films So how did we get from there to here What scared audiences then compared to now This examination of the horror film's soundtrack builds on film sound and genre scholarship to demonstrate how horror perhaps more than any other genre utilizes sound to manipulate audience response Beginning with the Universal pictures of the early 1930s and moving through the next nine decades it explores connections and contrasts throughout the genre's technical and creative evolution New enthusiasts or veteran fans of such varied films as The Mummy, Cat People, The Day the Earth Stood Still, Psycho, Halloween, A Nightmare on Elm Street, Scream, The Conjuring, Paranormal Activity and A Quiet Place will find plenty to explore and perhaps a new sonic appreciation within these pages

The Moviegoing Experience, 1968-2001 Richard W. Haines, 2010-06-28 The experience of going to the movies be it a single screen theater twin multiplex or drive in is affected by many different factors that have shifted over the years Just as movies emerged from silent to talking black and white to color there has invariably been change in the way movies are made copied distributed and viewed This change in the moviegoing experience for better or for worse is worth studying This work examines the American moviegoing experience from 1968 to 2001 the way in which movies are made and regulated including the demise of the Production Code and the emergence of the ratings system as well as changes in lighting cinematography and coloring techniques The projection practices of the past and present during and after the presence of the Projectionists Union and the advent of the platter which allowed for automated projection are discussed How home video and cable affected the content of films after the eighties and the history of computerized special effects leading to the development of digital cinema projection are included The work also covers the changing types of venues over the last third of a century and other aspects that affect positively or negatively the entire moviegoing experience

American Horror Film Steffen Hantke, 2010-09-30 Creatively spent and politically irrelevant the American horror film is a mere ghost of its former self or so goes the old saw from fans and scholars alike Taking on this undeserved reputation the contributors to this collection provide a comprehensive look at a decade of cinematic production covering a wide variety of material from the last ten years with a clear critical eye Individual essays profile the work of up and coming director Alexandre Aja and reassess William Malone s much maligned FearDotCom in the light of the torture debate at the end of President George W Bush s administration Other essays look at the economic social and formal aspects of the genre the globalization of the US film industry the alleged escalation of cinematic violence and the massive commercial popularity of the remake Some essays examine specific subgenres from the teenage horror flick to the serial killer film and the spiritual horror film as well as the continuing relevance of classic directors such as George A

Romero David Cronenberg John Landis and Stuart Gordon Essays deliberate on the marketing of nostalgia and its concomitant aesthetic and on the curiously schizophrenic perspective of fans who happen to be scholars as well Taken together the contributors to this collection make a compelling case that American horror cinema is as vital creative and thought provoking as it ever was
