Circular Economy and Sustainable Value Creation through Eco-Innovation Srikanta Patnaik, Leon Miller, Francesco Vigliarolo, 2025-05-28 Circular economy and sustainable value creation through eco innovation are interconnected concepts that revolve around creating a more sustainable and environmentally friendly approach to economic growth and business development In a world confronted by pressing environmental challenges the need for sustainable economic practices has never been more urgent The traditional linear economic model characterized by the take make dispose approach has led to resource depletion environmental degradation and social inequalities In response to these challenges the concepts of circular economy and eco innovation have emerged as powerful frameworks for reshaping our economic systems to prioritize sustainability The circular economy represents a paradigm shift from the linear economic model that has dominated for centuries Instead of viewing resources as finite and disposable the circular economy embraces the idea that resources can be kept in circulation for as long as possible thereby minimizing waste and environmental impact At the core of the circular economy is the efficient use of resources This entails reducing resource consumption reusing products and materials and recycling to extend the life of resources Products are designed with durability and ease of repair in mind ensuring they have a longer lifespan and can be easily maintained Circular practices aim to restore natural systems and reduce harm to the environment whether through reforestation soil regeneration or sustainable agriculture

From Fires to Oceans: Dynamics of Fire-Derived Organic Matter in Terrestrial and Aquatic Ecosystems Samuel Abiven, Cristina Santín, 2019-05-09 Fire derived organic matter also known as pyrogenic carbon PyC is ubiquitous on Earth It can be found in soils sediments water and air In this wide range of environments fire derived organic matter represents a key component of the organic matter pool and in many cases the largest identifiable group of organic compounds PyC is also one of the most persistent organic matter fractions in the ecosystems and its study is therefore particularly relevant for the global carbon cycle From its production during vegetation fires to its transfer into soils sediments and waters PyC goes through different transformations both abiotic and biotic Contrary to early assumptions PyC is not inert and interacts strongly with the environment evidence of microbial decomposition oxidation patterns and interactions with minerals have been described in different matrices PyC travels across these different environments and it is modified chemically and physically but remains persistent This Research Topic explores important questions in our understanding of fire derived organic matter from the characterization and quantification of PyC components to the transformation and mobilization processes taking place on terrestrial and aquatic ecosystems The studies compiled here provide novel and often unexpected results They all answer some of the questions posed and more importantly provide scope for many more
