Presenting a new and challenging way of looking at social work practice, this book focuses on the ecology of the total community. Its purpose is to help close the distance between the natural environment of children and families and the professionals who treat them. Divided into three sections, the first discusses the actual joining process between families, children and adolescents, human service organizations, workers in other agencies, and multi-cultural communities. The second section presents information on getting started and involved in daily practice; the developmental basis for programming; and program design for children and youth at risk, those with special education needs, and those in transition from school to the world of work. The final section then concentrates on the worker, with chapters on preservice and on-going education, maintenance strategies, and social supports. Specific case, organization, and community level examples can be found throughout the book to illustrate this ecological perspective.
