Social Structure and Mobility in Economic Development Neil J. Smelser, Seymour Martin Lipset, The foundation of this volume is the notion that the several processes of change constituting economic and social development are systematically interrelated. The essence of development is the appearance of rapid rates of increases in many different indices output per capita political participation literacy and the like. These quantitative changes are however commonly accompanied by vast changes in the social structure markets emerge political bureaucracies arise and new educational systems appear. Written by the leading authorities on the subject this group of papers tackles the causes and consequences of social mobility. Each author brings his particular skills to bear on various aspects of the problem in studies of persons moving from rural to urban settings from one kind of industry to another and from one prestige level to another.
