Stirring It Challenges For Feminism:

Stirring It Gabriele Griffin, Marianne Hester, Shirin Rai, Sasha Roseneil, 2023-12-30 First published in 1994 Stirring It debates the challenges which confront feminism and Women's Studies in the 1990s In the face of current worldwide political and social upheavals Stirring It poses questions about women their bodies their identities and positions which need to be addressed by contemporary feminists The chapters therefore challenge the orthodoxies and theories which are exploded by contemporary feminist practice They raise new issues for feminist debate The volume is divided into four sections Feminist Politics in Action investigates the inter relationship between politics and action with reference to issues such as the women's movement in Britain and women's position in and in relation to Ireland Disrupting Sexual Identities provides critiques of heterosexuality monogamy and conceptualization of the female body Imaging and Imagining explores the politics of women's cultural production and Women's Studies and Feminist Practice analyzes the often fraught connections between theory and practice This is a must read for scholars and researchers of Women's Studies Sociology and Gender Studies

Feminist Activism in the 1990s Gabriele Griffin, 2005-11-01 Feminist activism is often taught as an historical phenomenon and many students entering courses on women's studies are not familiar with current feminist work in the field This book documents a wide variety of different forms of feminist activism in the 1990s from organisations such as Rights for Women and Southall Black Sisters to Asian Women's Work in Refuges It raises questions about the meaning of feminist activism and its interpretation within women's studies and other academic disciplines The chapters suggest against much current representation within women's studies and elsewhere that feminism is still alive With a comprehensive introduction providing an historical overview of the development of feminist activism from second wave feminism onwards this text is intended to be of use as a resource for all students of women's studies and related courses

Feminist Transformations and Domestic Violence Activism in Divided Berlin, 1968-2002 Jane Freeland, 2024-07-19 This is the first in depth historical study of feminist activism against domestic violence in divided Berlin between 1968 and 2002 Starting in the 1970s feminists in West and then East Berlin campaigned against domestic violence as a key issue of women's inequality They exposed the harmful gender norms that left women unprotected and vulnerable to abuse in the home and called for this to change Indeed domestic violence has been one of the issues most effectively addressed by the women's movement in Germany Since the first shelter opened in West Berlin in 1976 women's shelters have spread throughout the country and today up to 45 000 women a year turn to emergency housing in Germany with many more accessing helplines and crisis centres Situating domestic violence activism within a broader history of feminism in post war Germany Feminist Transformations traces the evolution of this movement both across political division and reunification and from grassroots campaign to established professionalised social service In doing so it brings the histories of feminism in East and West Berlin together for the first time and explores how feminism successfully changed women's rights in Germany But it also asks what popular and political support for domestic violence activism has meant for feminism and the advancement of women's rights more broadly. Examining the trajectory of feminism in Germany, Jane Freeland reveals the limitations of gender equality as advancements in women's rights were often built on the reassertion of patriarchal gender roles.

Sisterhood and After
 Margaretta Jolly, 2019-08-27 This ground-breaking history of the UK Women's Liberation Movement shows why and how feminism's second wave mobilized to demand not just equality but social and gender transformation. Oral history testimonies power the work, tracing the arc of a feminist life from 1950s girlhoods to late-life activism today. Peppered with personal stories, the book casts new light on feminist critiques of society and on the lives of prominent and grassroots activists. Margaretta Jolly uses oral history as a creative method, making significant use of Sisterhood and After: The Women's Liberation Oral History Project to animate still-unresolved controversies of race, class, sexuality, disability, and feminist identity. Women activists vividly recall a divisive education system, the unevenness of sexual liberation, and the challenges of Thatcherism, Northern Ireland's Troubles, and the policing of minority ethnic communities. They illuminate key campaigns in these wider contexts and talk of the organizational and collaborative skills they struggled to acquire as they moved into local government, NGOs, and even the business sector. Jolly provides fresh insight into iconic actions, including the Miss World Protest, the fight to protect abortion rights, and the peace protest at Greenham Common. Her accounts of workplace struggles from Ford and Grunwick to Women Against Pit Closures and Women and Manual Trades show how socialist ideals permeated feminism. She explores men's violence and today's demands for trans liberation as areas of continuing feminist concern. Jolly offers a refreshingly jargon-free exploration of key debates and theoretical trends alongside an appreciation of the joyfully personal aspects of feminism, from families, homes, shopping, and music to relationships, health, aging, death, and faith. She concludes by urging readers to enter the archives of feminist memory to help map their own political futures. Her work will appeal to general readers, scholars, and practitioners alike.

Changing The Subject Jocey Quinn, Sue Davies, Cathy Lubelska, 2017-09-25 First Published in 1994 How do women in the academy survive? How can women empower themselves? How can we develop feminist strategies in teaching, learning, and research in Higher Education? Changing the Subject: Women in Higher Education explores these fundamental questions and presents strategies for changing and challenging the mainstream curriculum in Higher Education. Drawing on experience, research, and theory, the contributors explore the contradictions that have to be managed by women in academia. The chapters analyse the interrelationship between women's roles and status as workers in higher education, their experiences as teachers and students, their representation within the curriculum, and the tensions between life in and out of the academy. Differences and inequalities between women are confronted: what is it to be an ebony woman in the ivory tower, for example, or to be caught between two worlds as a mother and academic? This diverse collection brings together everyday issues which women teaching and learning in higher education have themselves identified as important. It provides an opportunity to share the successes, struggles, and practical

HeteroSexual Politics Mary Maynard, June Purvis, 2003-12-16 Sexuality and sexual politics have been much debated over the last 20 years and feminists in particular have been responsible for politicising the debate pointing out how something which is usually regarded as private and personal is in fact a public and political issue This text illustrates the diversity and excitement of debates about sexuality in women s studies and feminism today and points to new paths for feminist analysis thinking and action In particular heterosexuality can no longer be taken for granted and must along with other forms of sexuality be explicitly addressed The volume is divided into three sections Analysing Hetero sexuality is concerned with exploring some of the complexities of the material aspects of sexual relations between men and women Media Discourses of Sexuality contains analyses derived from women s magazines television and newspapers and Practising Sexual Politics focuses on the reflexive awareness of sexual politics in the framing of methodological issues in research
