Excerpt from The Ohio Railroad Guide Illustrated and Descriptive Vol 1. Cincinnati: Hamilton and Dayton Railway and Mad River and Lake Erie Railway. From Dayton to Springfield. Cincinnati is one of the Wonders of the West. Seventy years ago on the site where now is the fifth city of the United States exhibiting all the evidence of high civilization there was a lonely forest in the midst of which appeared a few solitary mounds, remains of an unknown people. Such a contrast is nowhere to be found those cities of our country which are larger in size or equally rapid in growth are all of older date. None of so recent origin have such strength and magnitude. It is here then that we find one of the most striking examples of rapid development from the Savage to the Civilized state. The natural scenery around hills, river and plain are all associated even in the memory of a single life with the extremes of the wild forest in the Past. And the thick populated city of the Present.
