Storytracking Texts Stories And Histories In Central Australia:

Storytracking Sam D. Gill, 1998 Yet beyond the pessimism that often characterizes postmodernity he charts an optimistic and creative course framed in the terms of play Storytracking Sam D. Gill, 1997 Return to Uluru Mark McKenna, 2021-03-02 A killing A hidden history A story that goes to the heart of the nation When Mark McKenna set out to write a history of the centre of Australia he had no idea what he would discover One event in 1934 the shooting at Uluru of Aboriginal man Yokunnuna by white policeman Bill McKinnon and subsequent Commonwealth inquiry stood out as a mirror of racial politics in the Northern Territory at the time But then through speaking with the families of both killer and victim McKenna unearthed new evidence that transformed the historical record and the meaning of the event for today As he explains Every thread of the story connected to the present in surprising ways In a sequence of powerful revelations McKenna explores what truth telling and reconciliation look like in practice Return to Uluru brings a cold case to life It speaks directly to the Black Lives Matter movement but is completely Australian Recalling Chloe Hooper's The Tall Man it is superbly written moving and full of astonishing unexpected twists Ultimately it is a story of recognition and return which goes to the very heart of the country At the centre of it all is Uluru the sacred site where paths fatefully converged Mark McKenna has exposed the wounded heart of Australia Never has a history of our country so assumed the power of sacred myth Return to Uluru is a spellbinding story of death and resurrection that is Australian to its core James Boyce Mark McKenna sets the highest standard for truth telling of the kind that Australians so urgently need if they are to live in this country with honour I feel sure that this book will become an Australian classic not the first of its kind but certainly the most powerful narrative I have read of frontier injustice and its resonance in our lives today Marcia Langton Religious Studies, Theology, and the University Linell E. Cady, Delwin Brown, 2002-10-10 Explores the relationship between religious studies and theology and the place of each in the modern secular university Folk Heroes and Heroines around the World Graham Seal, Kim Kennedy White, 2016-03-14 This comprehensive collection of folk hero tales builds on the success of the first edition by providing readers with expanded contextual information on story characters from the Americas to Zanzibar Despite the tremendous differences between cultures and ethnicities across the world all of them have folk heroes and heroines real and imagined that have been represented in tales legends songs and verse These stories persist through time and space over generations even through migrations to new countries and languages This encyclopedia is a one stop source for broad coverage of the world's folk hero tales Geared toward high school and early college readers the book opens with an overview of folk heroes and heroines that provides invaluable context and then presents a chronology The book is divided into two main sections the first provides entries on the major types and themes the second addresses specific folk tale characters organized by continent with folk hero entries organized alphabetically Each entry provides cross references as well as a list of further readings Continent sections include a bibliography for additional research The book concludes with an alphabetical list of heroes and an index of hero types Creative Encounters, Appreciating Difference Sam Gill, 2018-11-15 Across the world from personal relationships to global politics differences cultural religious racial gender age ability are at the heart of the most disruptive and disturbing concerns While it is laudable to nurture an environment promoting the tolerance of difference Creative Encounters Appreciating Difference argues for the higher goal of actually appreciating difference as essential to creativity and innovation even if often experienced as stressful and complex Even encounters that are apparently harmful and negatively valued arguments conflict war oppression usually heighten the potential for creativity innovation movement action and identity Drawing on classic encounters that have played a significant role in the founding of the academic study of religion and the social sciences this book explores in some depth the dynamics of encounter to reveal both its problematic and creative aspects and to develop perspectives and strategies to assure encounters both include the appreciation of difference and also are recognized as creative and innovative The two examples most extensively considered show that the academic study of the peoples indigenous to North America and to Australia involved creative constructions concoctions of primary examples in order to establish and give authority to academic theories and definitions Rather than damning these examples as bad scholarship this book considers them to be encounters engendering creative constructions that are distinctive to academia yet their potential for harm must be understood Most important to the book is a persistent development of perspectives and strategies for understanding and approaching encounters in order to assure the appreciation of difference is accompanied by the potential for creativity and innovation Specific perspectives and strategies are related to naming moving gesture and play and particularly relevant to religion the development of an aesthetic of impossibles Since these historical examples engage highly relevant present concerns the distinction of real and fake truth and lie map and territory the threading essays show how these more or less classic examples might contribute to appreciating these contemporary concerns that are generated in the presence of difference
