Rooms with a View Richard Lewis Barr, 2025-10-01 In Sam Shepard's play Action a character asks What's a community only to find that no one really knows Rooms with a View attempts to chart the development of communal concepts through the discourse of dramatic modernism defining a coherent pattern that illustrates and anticipates innovations in modern and postmodern social theory To clarify the commonplace notion that audiences actively participate in dramatic art the introductory chapter theorizes a performance community which audience actors and other backstage actants such as playwrights and directors provisionally form in the theater Connecting psychological sociological and aesthetic insights ranging from Freud to Kohut from Simmel to Nancy and from Artaud and Brecht to Arnheim and Jellicoe Richard Barr shows how modernist thinkers are repeatedly drawn to the ideal of communion The distinctive structure of this collective inquiry helps untangle the roots and routes of modern drama and social thought Barr analyzes the social and aesthetic theory of four influential dramatists Ibsen and Strindberg he claims explore ways of acknowledging the integrity of individual viewpoints while maintaining collective coherence Pirandello and in more radical ways Beckett conclude that conflict and division are not simply inevitable but invaluable in organizing alternative perspectives By analyzing the ways playwrights variously conceive and achieve the complicated unity called community Rooms with a View produces the rich paradox that difference may make the most difference in creative communal consensus Richard L Barr holds a Ph D from the University of Virginia and has taught English at Rutgers University He is currently a specialist in intersubjective relations practicing in New Jersey and Switzerland
